Progress has been made. Loyola has seen one hundred graduating classes come and go. Loyola has educated many thousands of men, and has grown from its contact with each. Loyola has known and kindled the spirit within its men. Loyola has changed with new times and new minds to become as we know it today. One hundred graduating classes have not antiquated, but have matured Loyola into the institution it is in the 1968-1969 school year. This annual commemorates Loyola's . . .

This yearbook commemorates the 100 classes which have graduated from Loyola. Yet our main purpose is to tell the story of what happened at the school during the 1968-69 year.

1969 was like any other year in many ways. The Seniors had senioritis, the rally skits were as corny as ever, and everyone gave the Freshmen a bad time. Fr. Geiszel always had a few friends to keep him company after school, and Fr. Duggan completed his 25th year in service to Loyola. Some classes were interesting, some were not so interesting; some students "cared", some didn't.

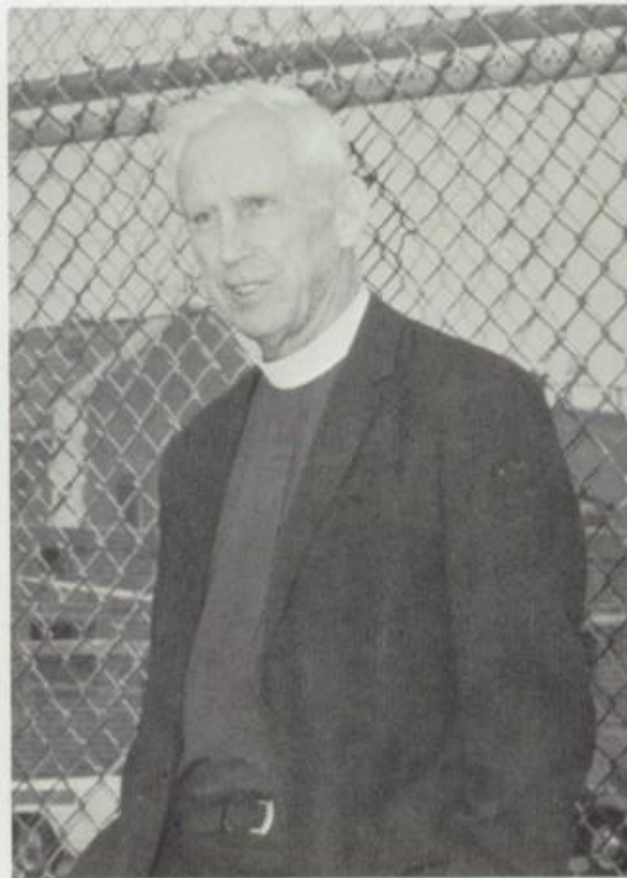

But many things happened which set 1969 apart from any other year. This year student government was quite active. But their proposal for a change in dress codes was turned down by the Administration. Fr. Koch, his invention, Albert; and the Gordon Weir Fan Club reached national (?) prominence by their appearances on television. There were more California State Scholarship Semifinalists than ever before, 126 in all. There were more assemblies, with speakers ranging from Chief of Police Reddin to a drug addict; producing varied reactions among the student body.

This year we beat Notre Dame 19-6. A Spring Spectacular was planned with a Rock Concert. The literary review, "Windowpanes," reappeared after missing last year. The "Super Heavies" Concert and Destruction Derby Day helped raise money for the missions. There was a newly formed Spanish Club with a membership of ? CAM and Task Force were active in Watts. 35 Seniors staged a sit down strike (?) for ten minutes. Our Football and Basketball teams earned the right to compete in the CIF Playoffs.

An unbelievable amount of work went in to making 1969 the year that it was; by Fr. McDermott, who kept the school functioning efficiently; by the casts of the two school plays, "You Can't Take It With You" and "Bye Bye Birdie"; by teachers who were really interested in getting across what they taught; by the members of all the athletic teams; by Mrs. Pollock, a cool person; by the staffs of the "Loyalist" and the literary review; by those who participated in school activities; in short, by anyone who "cared" enough to devote part of his time to making 1969 different.

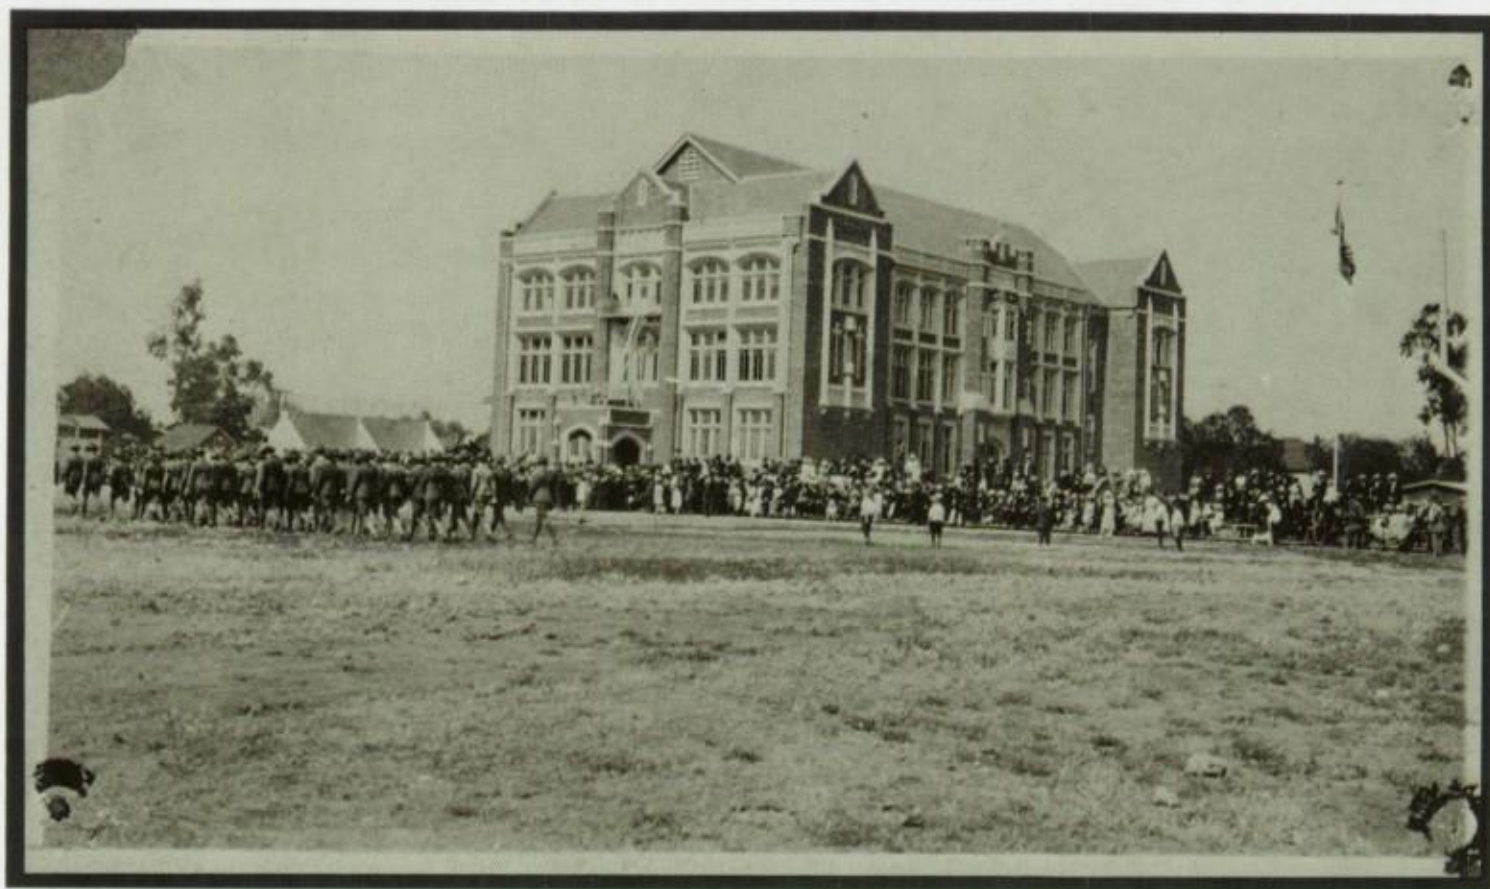

This year Fr. Duggan taught religion and coached the Cross Country and Track teams. He "cared" enough to put his time and effort into making 1969 different. But what's more, he has cared enough to leave his mark on $\frac{1}{4}$ of the 100 classes which have graduated from this school. For this reason we would like to dedicate this annual to him.

1969 marks another year in Loyola's history, but at the same time an entirely different year. This yearbook examines what has happened to Loyola before, and then continues with the story of the people and events which make this year unique.

The five locations of St. Vincent's/Loyola have been; 1st, in the Lugo House opposite the Plaza—1865 to 1868 (shown at left); 2nd, at 6th and Broadway—1868 to 1887; 3rd, at Washington and Grand—1887 to 1911; 4th, in Highland Park—1911 to 1917; and 5th Venice Boulevard—1917 to...

Loyola . . . It hasn't always been a high school; it hasn't always been taught by Jesuits; it hasn't always been at 1901 Venice Boulevard; it hasn't always been called Loyola. But Loyola isn't a name or a place or a group of teachers. Loyola is made of ideas, values, and beliefs which have not only withstood the test of Time, but also have worked in harmony with Time. Old walls have fought, and fallen, but Loyola has lived, and grown, and moved with Time. The consciousness of Time has enabled Loyola to be an important force in the education of its students, and it is this consciousness of Time which is the key to the future of Loyola.

The St. Vincent's Dramatic Society on Grand Avenue.

The founders of Loyola, the Vincentian fathers, opened the first college and high school in Southern California in 1865. The official charter of Saint Vincent's College was granted in 1869 by the state of California, and the first graduates, a century ago, received their diplomas. The Vincentian fathers first established those ideas, values, and beliefs that have resisted Time and become Loyola tradition.

The years of St. Vincent's were tough years in a rapidly growing city. Because of the demands of the growing community of Los Angeles, the campus of St. Vincent's was moved five times before settling at the present site on Venice Boulevard.

In 1911, six years before establishing a school on Venice Boulevard, the Vincentian fathers left the care of St. Vincent's College and High School in the hands of a few adventuresome Jesuits. It was the strength and ambition of these Jesuits which enabled Loyola to overcome the many obstacles, interjected by Time, that would crumple the walls of other institutions.

March 25, 1917, marked the day on which the Jesuits and their students occupied the new campus at 1901 Venice Boulevard. The student body president, J. Francis Moroney, admitted that this transition was not without trials and difficulties. But he cited the rising of the new walls as the beginning of something better.

This "something better" was Jesuit education, what one speaker of the 1917 class called "helping the students to learn who they are."

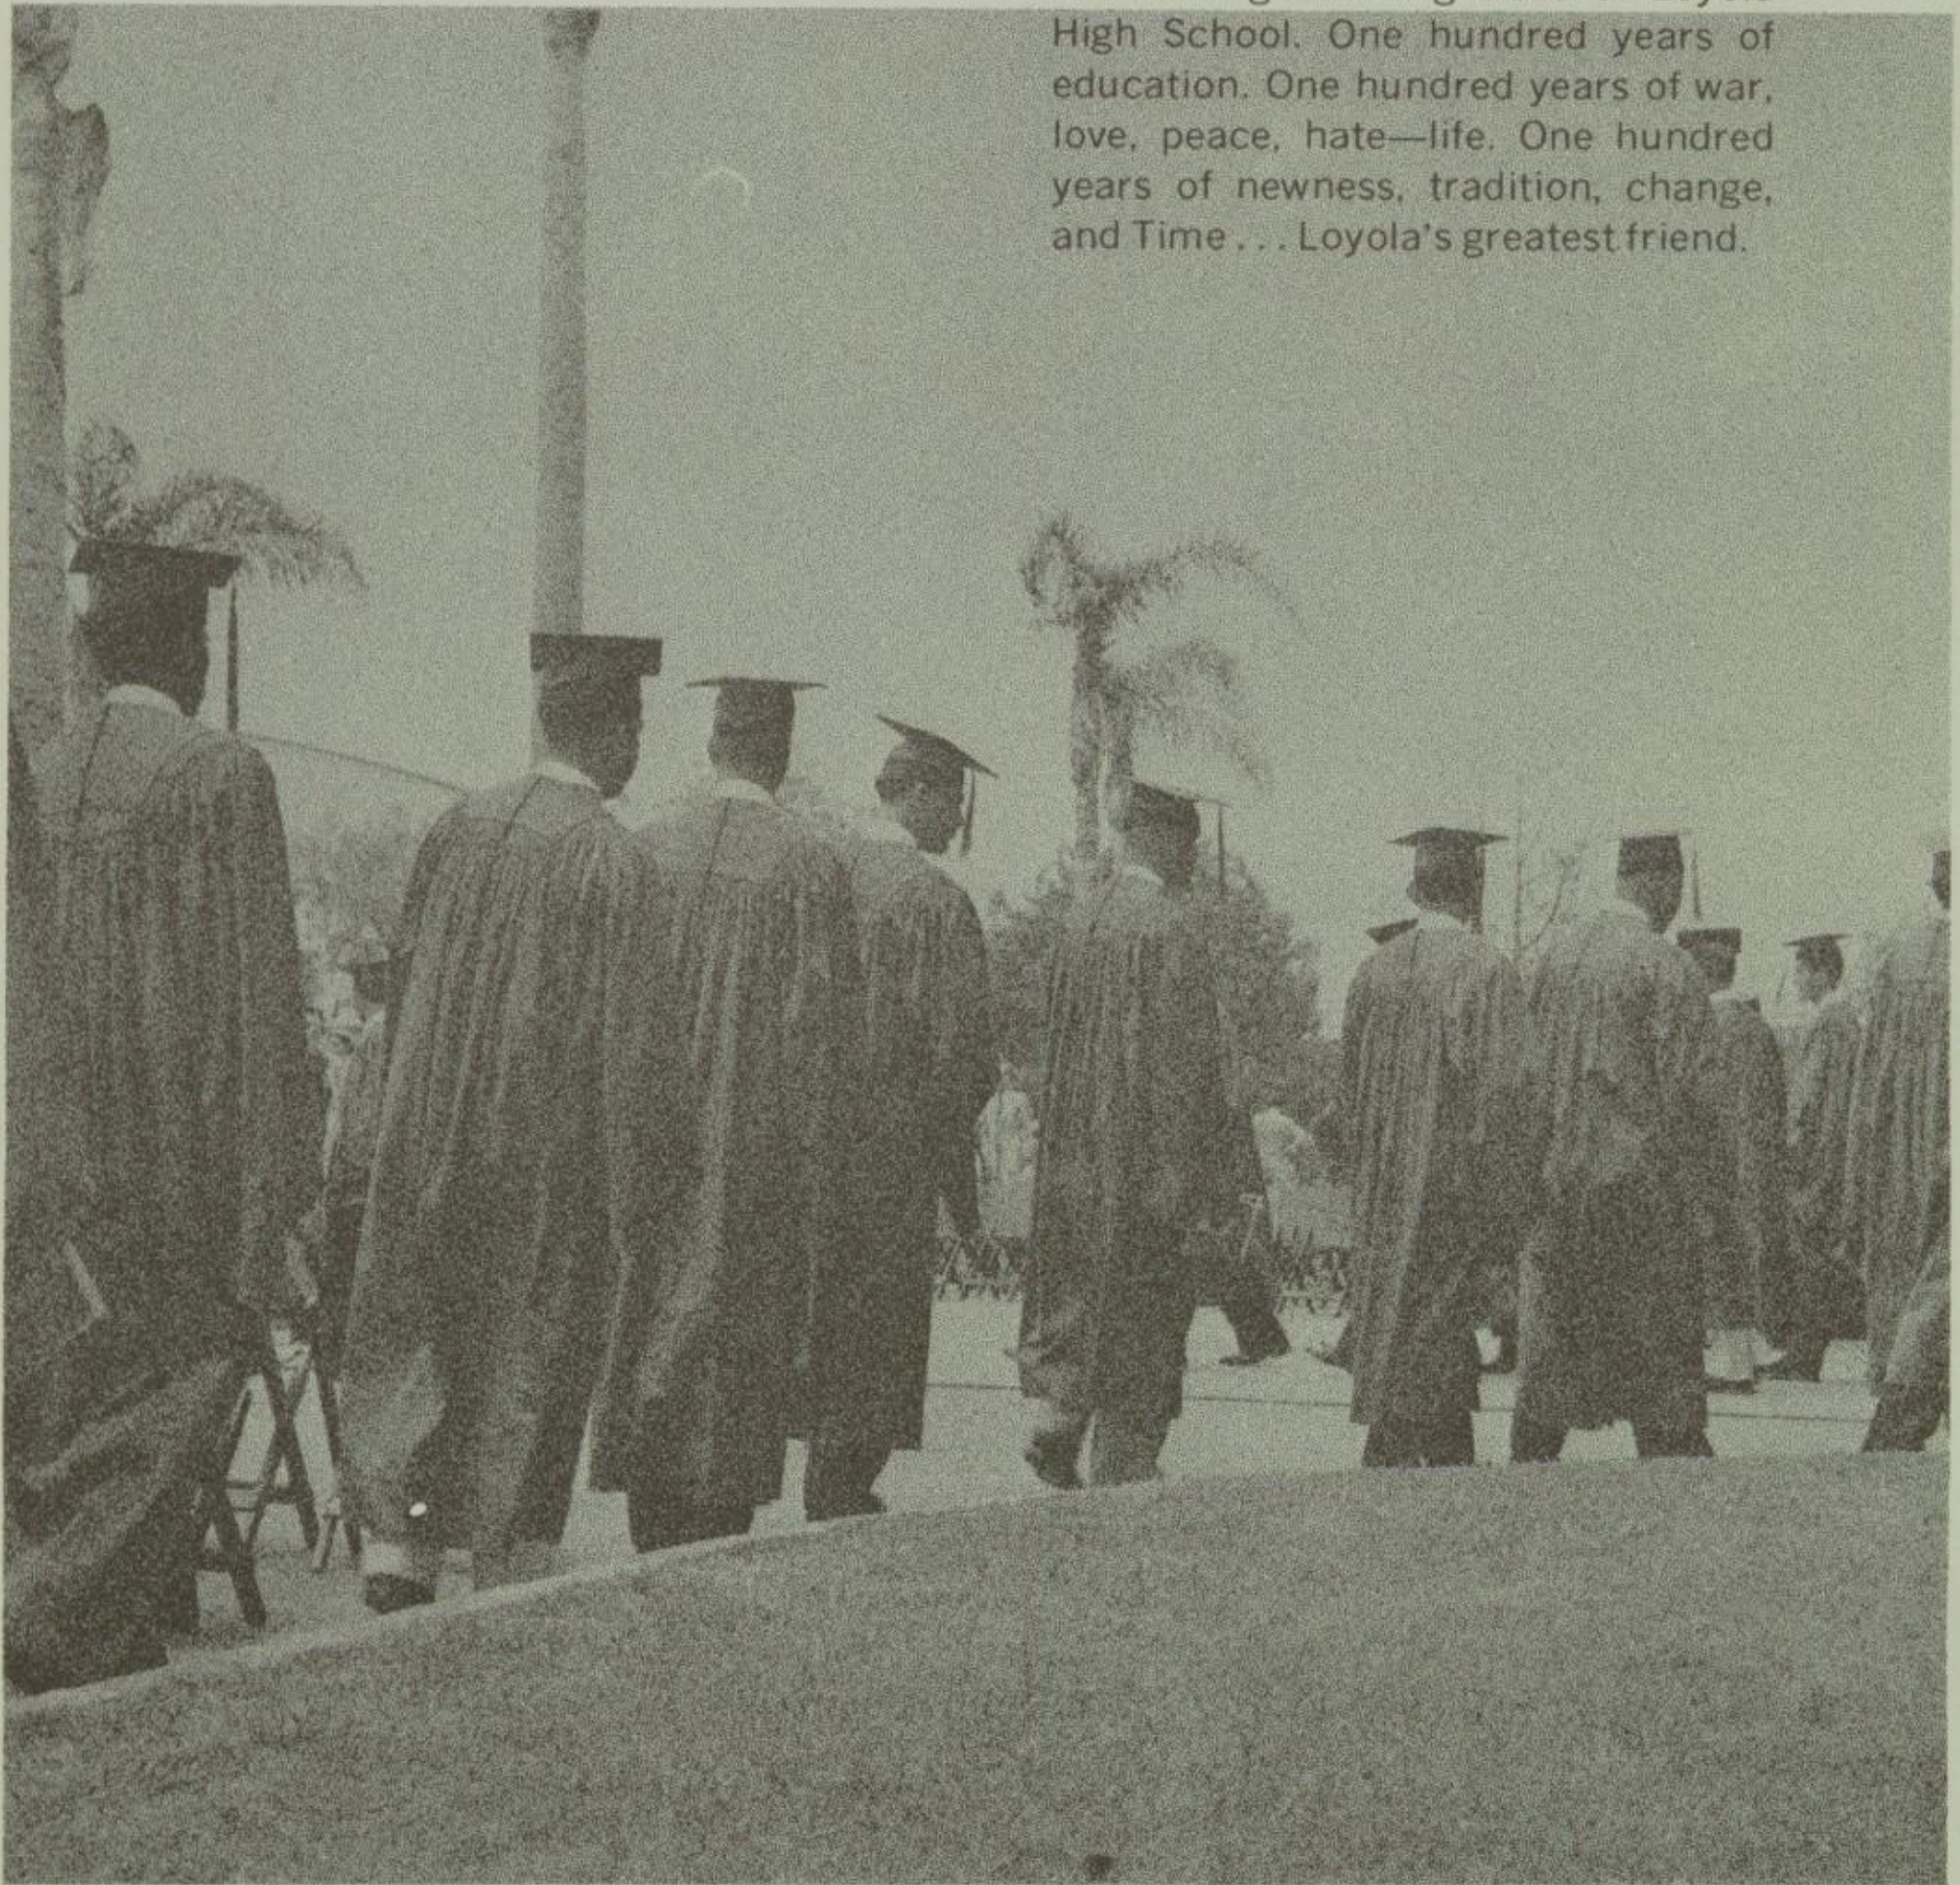

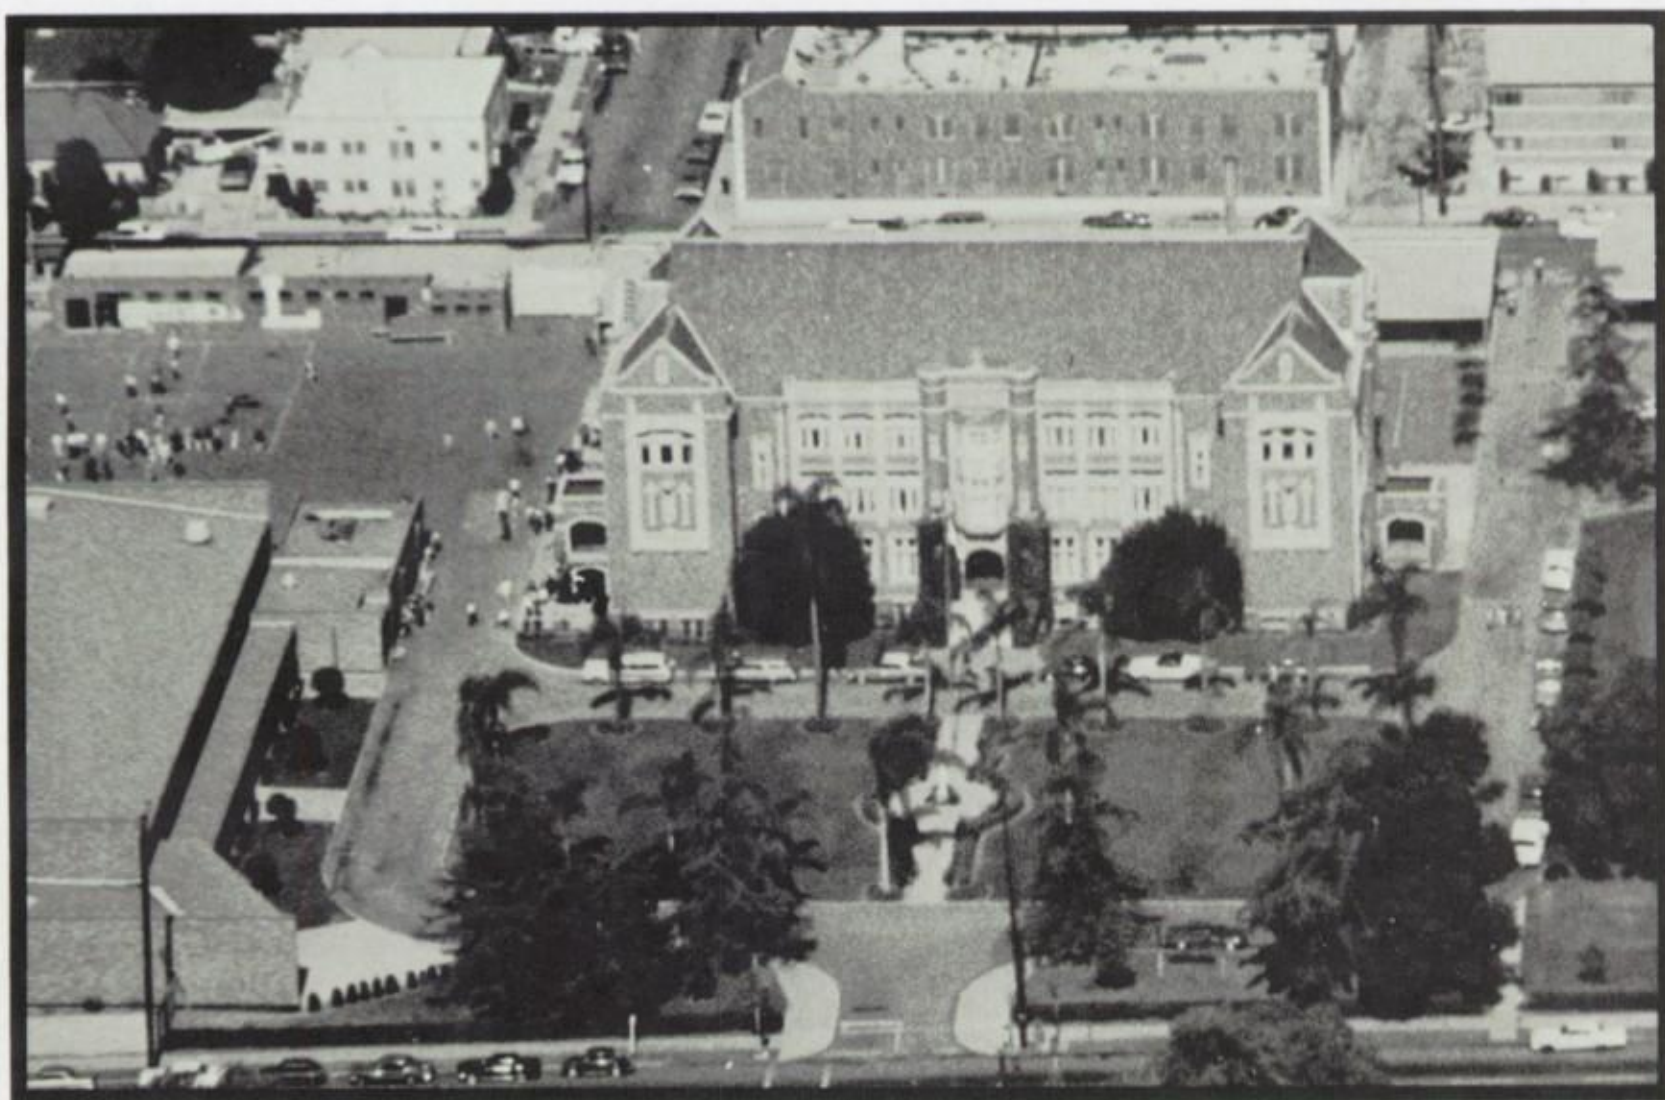

Loyola High students campaigning for student body office in the 1930's.

And in the process of learning who they were, the students began to learn something about each other. It was this experience which bred a sense of unity and cooperation among the students of Loyola, and the real traditions of Loyola were founded on this sense of unity.

It was in 1926 that the college officially moved away from the high school, and the Venice campus exclusively became Loyola High School.

And so Loyola has transversed a century. 1969 marks the one hundreth graduating class of Loyola High School. One hundred years of education. One hundred years of war, love, peace, hate—life. One hundred years of newness, tradition, change, and Time . . . Loyola's greatest friend.

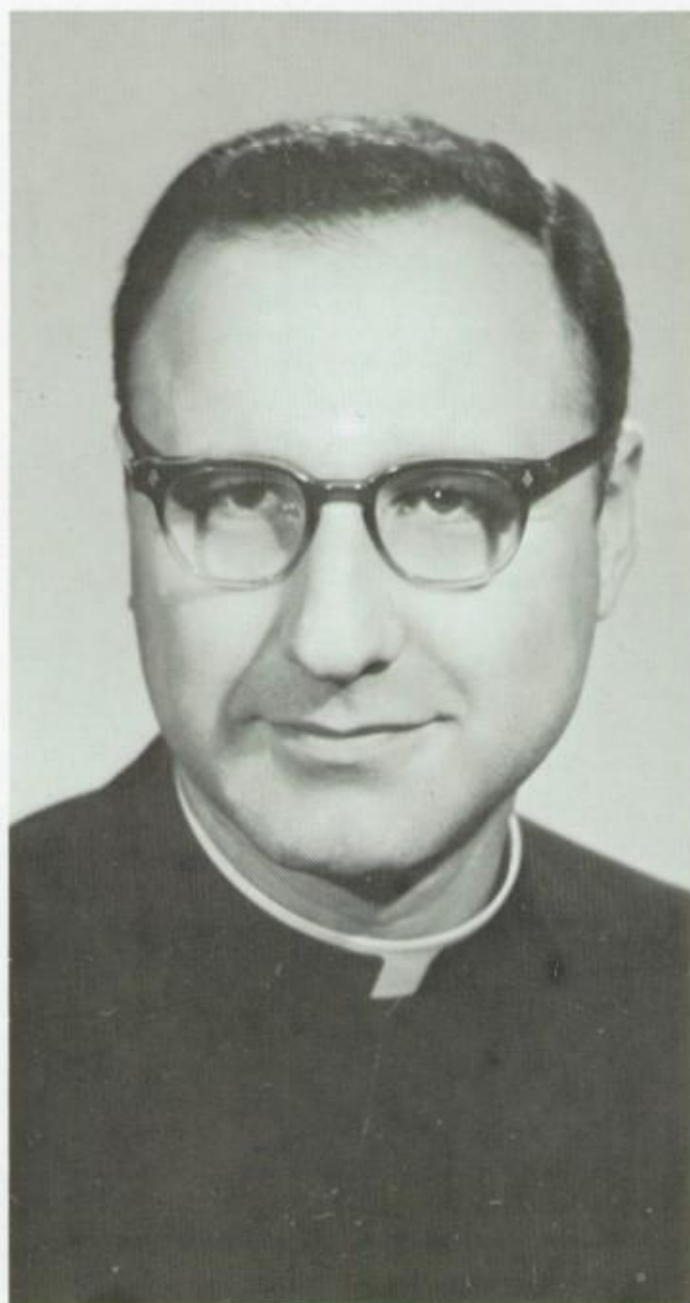

The one hundred graduating classes of St. Vincent's/Loyola have been guided well. Each administrator and every faculty member has contributed his time and energy as a part in the history of our school. We are the ones who benefit. Men like Rt. Rev. Thaddaeus Amat, Rev. Aloyius J. Meyer, Rev. Michael V. Richardson, and Rev. John J. Murray all figured prominently in the development of Loyola; our administration and faculty today perpetuate their endeavors.

Administration & Faculty

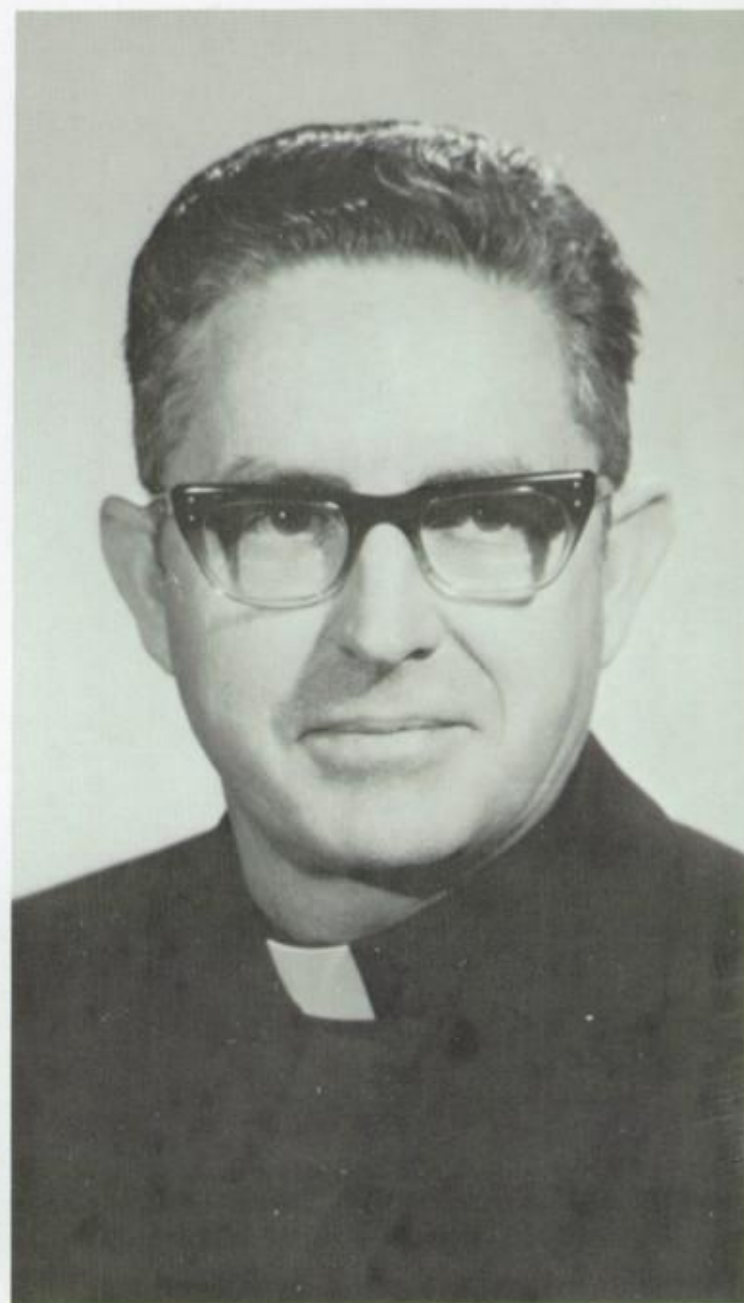

Administration

Rev. Robert L. Sinclair, S. J.

Rev. Edwin J. McDermott, S. J.

The Very Reverend Robert L. St. Clair, S. J. a graduate of Loyola's Class of 1945, returned five years ago to become the president of his alma mater, by the appointment of the Jesuit Superior General in Rome. Before he accepted this position, Father St. Clair had been the Assistant Dean of Men at Loyola University of Los Angeles, where he was also a professor of speech.

As president of Loyola High School, and rector of the on-campus Jesuit community, he is responsible for the direction of policies and programs concerning the school. He must plan for its future development, both physical and academic.

The Reverend Edwin J. McDermott S. J. became principal of Loyola High School in 1964, after having obtained a Master of Arts Degree in Philosophy, as well as a Master of Education Degree, from Gonzaga University. He has had ample experience in his administrative office, having served as principal of a Jesuit high school in Phoenix, Arizona. Before coming to Loyola, Father McDermott also served as president of the Secondary Schools Commission of the Jesuit Educational Association.

Father's responsibilities are simple to state, but of great importance to perform, for he serves as the supervisor of admissions, schedules, courses, and various other academic affairs.

The Reverend John I. Geiszel, S. J., a member of Loyola's Class of 1934, is the vice-principal of Loyola High. He is responsible for the discipline of the student body and the supervisor of the school's athletic events.

Like Father McDermott, Father Geiszel has also had experience as an administrator, having served as Loyola's vice-principal from 1961-1963. After holding the office of principal of a Jesuit school in Sacramento, he returned in 1965 to assume his old duties.

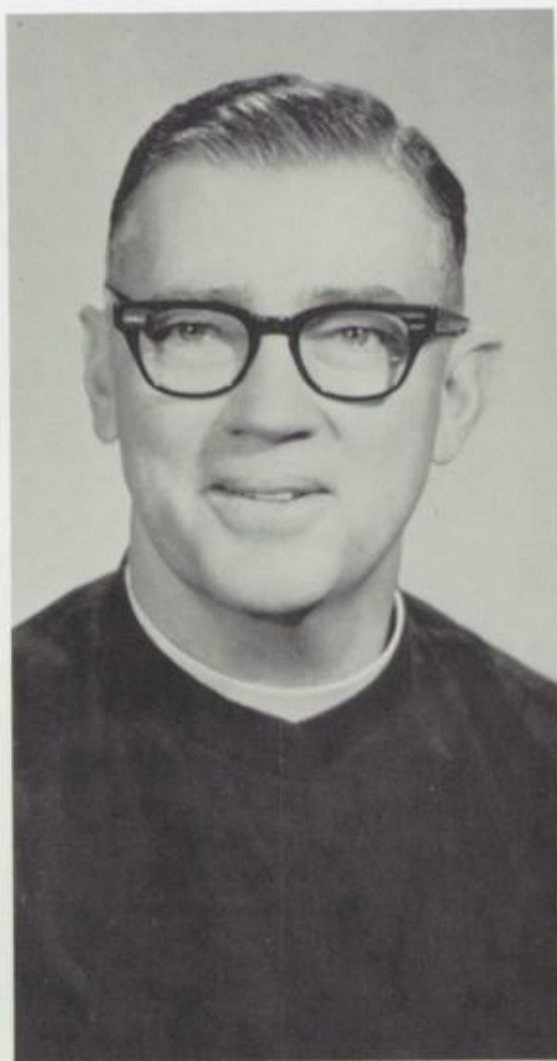

In his extensive education, Father Geiszel has accumulated a Master of Education degree from Fordham University, a Master of Sacred Theology degree from the University of Santa Clara, and a Master of Arts degree in Philosophy from Gonzaga University.

The Reverend Robert L. Leonard, S. J., served his fourth year as administrator at Loyola High as the assistant to the principal in charge of guidance. Father Leonard is Director of Loyola's Guidance Center, having served many years as a counselor to the students. Along with these administrative duties, Father Leonard teaches Religion and Scriptural History to the freshmen, and lends his help at athletic, social, and other extra-curricular events.

Mr. William Lenihan of the Class of 1954, not only performs the responsibilities of a history teacher and Chairmen of the Social Studies Department, but also serves as Assistant Principal in charge of admissions, a new position at Loyola. At this new post Mr. Lenihan contacts grammar schools about the studies and opportunities offered at Loyola High, as well as interviewing incoming students. Beside all these duties, Mr. Lenihan also instructs Loyola men in driver education and training as well as being director of Loyola's summer school.

Athletics

Loyola's football team of 1901, shown here, symbolizes one of the longest standing traditions in the high school's history: athletics. Through Loyola's existence various sports have been added to make our school's athletic activities as numerous as they are. But the true worth of Loyola's sports program is the participation and school spirit which knit the student body into a complete whole.

Football '68

If one word were to be applied to Loyola's '68 gridders, that word would be desire. Following a disappointing '67 campaign the Cubs, under the direction of head coach Mr. DiMuro, were determined to re-establish the winning Loyola tradition. This was the first season of the newly established Del Rey League, and the team proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that in 1968 the Loyola Cub had grown a new set of teeth.

PRESEASON GAMES

LOYOLA 14—CENTENNIAL 0

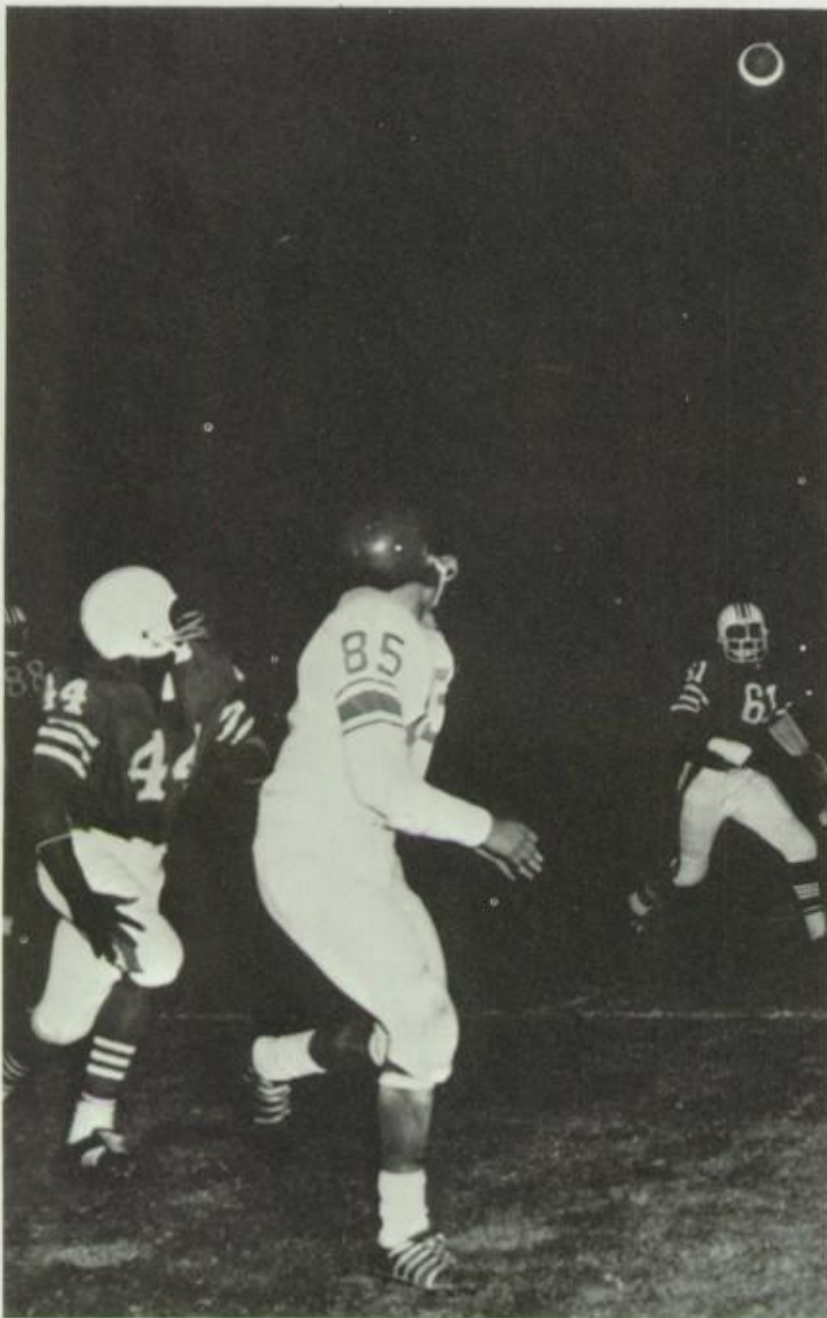

Centennial, sixth ranked in the CIF, had beaten the Cubs in their last two season openers and was favored to do so again. Loyola, however, held a 14 - 0 halftime advantage that it never relinquished. Senior tailback Tom Swartz ran for one TD and passed to wingback Rob Gianelli for another. The Cub defense did the rest, allowing the Apaches a mere 61 yards total offense.

LOYOLA 14—MATER DEI 6

Loyola hosted the perennially powerful Mater Dei Monarchs in its second contest. Once again, the tenacious Cub defensive unit was the key to victory. Loyola's touchdowns came on a 3 yard pass from Swartz to Junior end Bob Fitzgerald and on an electrifying 71 yard gallop around end by Swartz. This was the Cubs' first victory ever over Mater Dei.

LOYOLA 30—LA CANADA 0

With first string tailback Swartz sidelined by the flu, Loyola engaged the Spartans at LACC. Junior Rick Garner filled in for Swartz and led the Cub attack. He scored three times on runs of 9, 49, and 13 yards; he also threw a 26 yard scoring aerial to Fitzgerald. Junior fullback Rod Volk scored Loyola's other TD. The Cubs amassed a staggering 426 yards total offense.

Loyola's offense this year was a strong combination of talented juniors and experienced seniors. At Left: all league junior-end Bob Fitzgerald (85) looks for a long pass against Centennial. Above: junior tailback Rick Garner eludes a tackler on route to a long gain.

BISHOP AMAT 29—LOYOLA 13

The Loyola-Amat game was a battle of the unbeaten. The Cubs scored early on a 6 yard jaunt by Swartz, but the Lancers came fighting back to lead 14 - 6 at the half. Loyola closed the gap to 14 - 13 on a scoring plunge by Volk, but Amat's superior passing attack was too much for the Cubs' defensive secondary to contain.

At Left: Tom Swartz (15), the league's Most Valuable Player and the workhorse of the Cubs' offense, breaks loose on a touchdown run, leaving a Notre Dame defender behind. The success of the offense can be attributed to effective blocking, such as that by Rod Volk (35). Above: Volk also hurt opponents by his fine ball carrying.

DEL REY LEAGUE

LOYOLA 19—NOTRE DAME 6

The Cubs wanted the Notre Dame game more than any other. It marked the opening of the new Del Rey League, and the winner would probably clinch the first Del Rey championship. Loyola dominated the entire contest. Swartz scored twice and netted over 200 yards rushing. Volk smashed through for the Cubs' other TD. Loyola's defensive unit allowed the Knights only 23 net yards rushing.

LOYOLA 13—CATHEDRAL 7

Leading 13 - 0 at the half, the Cubs seemed to have the game in the bag, but the Phantoms almost pulled an upset. Cathedral scored on a fourth and long yardage situation. The Cubs defensive line won the game by holding the Phantoms on the Loyola 6 inch line late in the game. Fitzgerald and Volk scored for the Cubs.

The Cub defense in '68 was great, shutting out the opposition 4 times. While the reserves (above) watch the action from the bench; Tim Wheeler (82), a sophomore defensive back, closes in on an enemy running back (upper right). The red shirts (at right), who simulated different opposing offenses, played an important part in keeping the Loyola defense in top shape.

LOYOLA 26—SALIESIAN 0

The Cubs crushed the Mustangs for their third league victory. The Big Blue offense devastated Saliesian; Swartz and Garner tallied on runs, and Swartz completed two out of three passes. One was a 50 yard bomb to Fitzgerald and the other was a 26 yarder to Dennis Slattery. Both were good for touchdowns. The Cub defense allowed Saliesian only 90 yards total offense to Loyola's 354.

LOYOLA 14—ALEMANY 0

The Cub defense recorded its fourth shut out of the season. Loyola scored both of its touchdowns in the first half on runs of 9 and 2 yards by Swartz. By defeating the Indians, who had upset St. Francis the preceding week, Loyola assured itself of at least a tie for the league championship.

ST. FRANCIS 13—LOYOLA 6

With several key players sidelined by injuries the Cubs fell to their first League defeat. For the first time the Cub defense was not able to contain its opponents' running attack. Loyola scored in the first period on a 1 yard plunge by Swartz. Although they lost, the Cubs had won the co-championship with Notre Dame and a berth in the CIF playoffs.

Above: A view from behind shows the fine blocking of the Cub offensive line. Volk (35) has the ball and is about to power up the middle. At Left: Fitzgerald (85) makes an attempt to get to a pass while being held up by a defensive back.

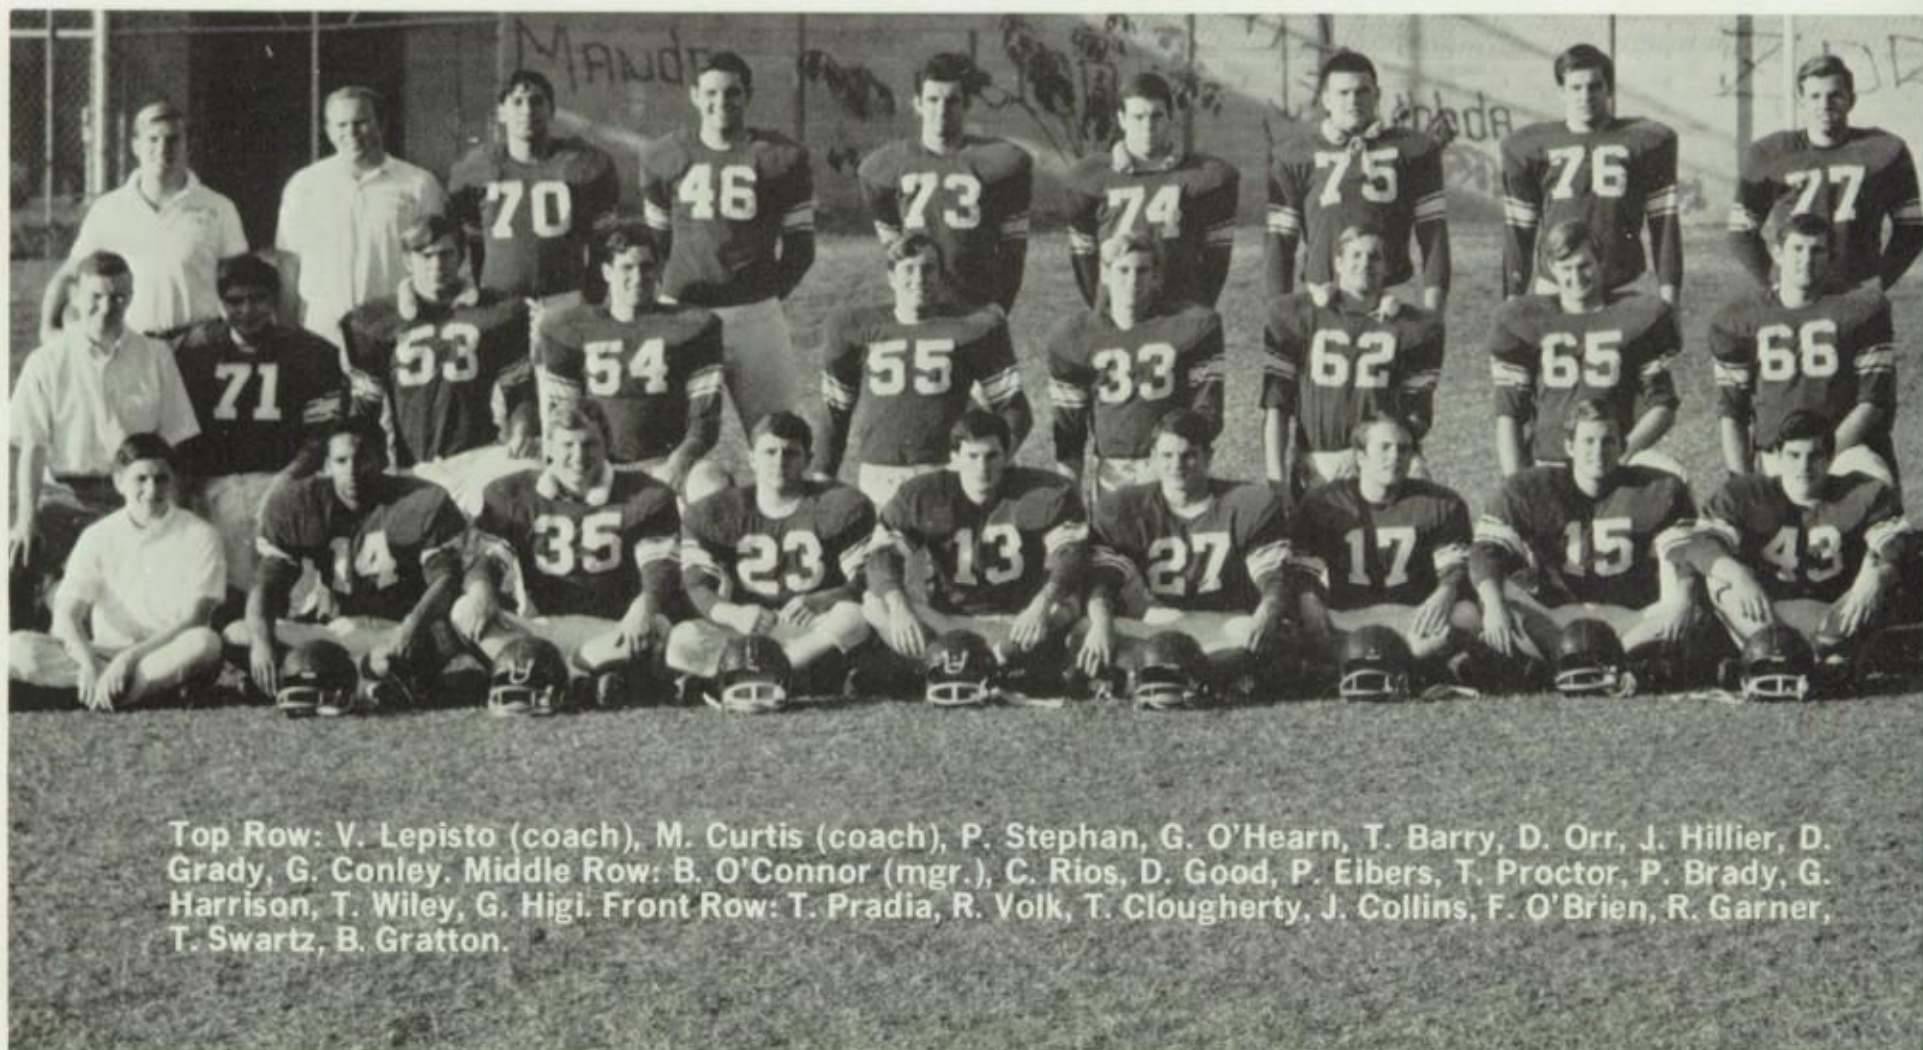

CIF PLAYOFFS

ARROYO 13—LOYOLA 6

For the seventh time in eight years Loyola entered the first round of the CIF playoffs. Neither team could generate a drive in the first half, but Swartz scored from 8 yards out early in the fourth period. A pass interference penalty against the Cubs set the Knights up for their first tally. With the score deadlocked at 6 - 6 and 5:30 remaining in the game Arroyo took the lead on a 60 yard pass completion. Loyola made a desperate attempt to tie the game but came seven yards short of scoring.

Frosh

The Loyola Frosh got off to a slow start, but built confidence and steadily improved as the season progressed. They finished strongly, overpowering their last two rivals, Salesian and St. Francis, after dropping hard-fought contests against Mater Dei, Bishop Amat, Centennial, Notre Dame, Cathedral, and Alemany.

Cross Country

The pain of running is an intense human experience well rewarded by victory. Coach Father Duggan, S.J., and former Olympic coach Mihaly Igloi strived to build confidence in the individuals, who combined to bring Loyola another successful Cross Country season in 1968.

beating Notre Dame, St. Anthony, and Alemany; though losing to St. Francis, Salesian, and Cathedral. In the league finals, the Cubs took a more representative third.

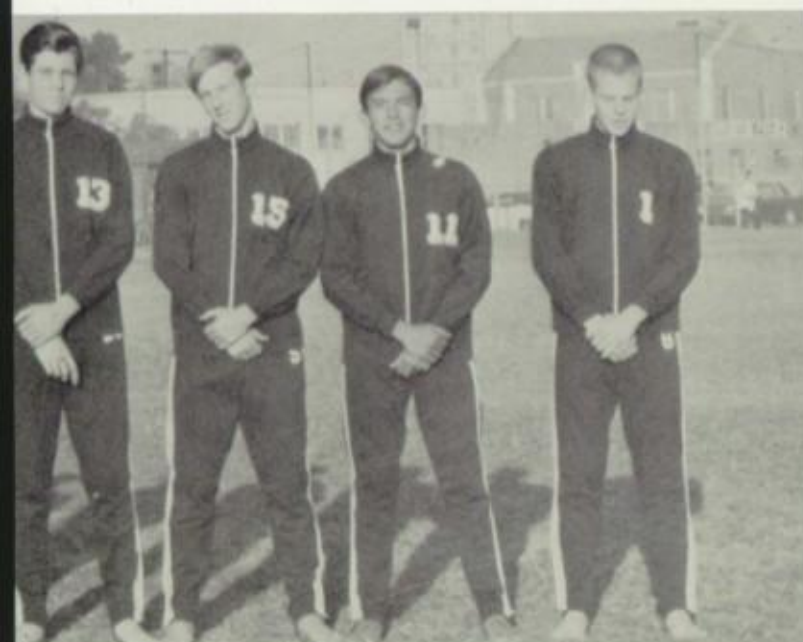

The spearhead of the Varsity attack was a dedicated Junior, Mark Rafferty, who outclassed all early competition only to be hobbled by a foot injury in the latter part of the season. The slack was immediately picked up by captain Chris Randolph and the rest of the hardworking squad.

The perennially strong JV and Bee thinclads each suffered only one defeat in taking second places in their leagues, with consistently strong team efforts.

Basketball

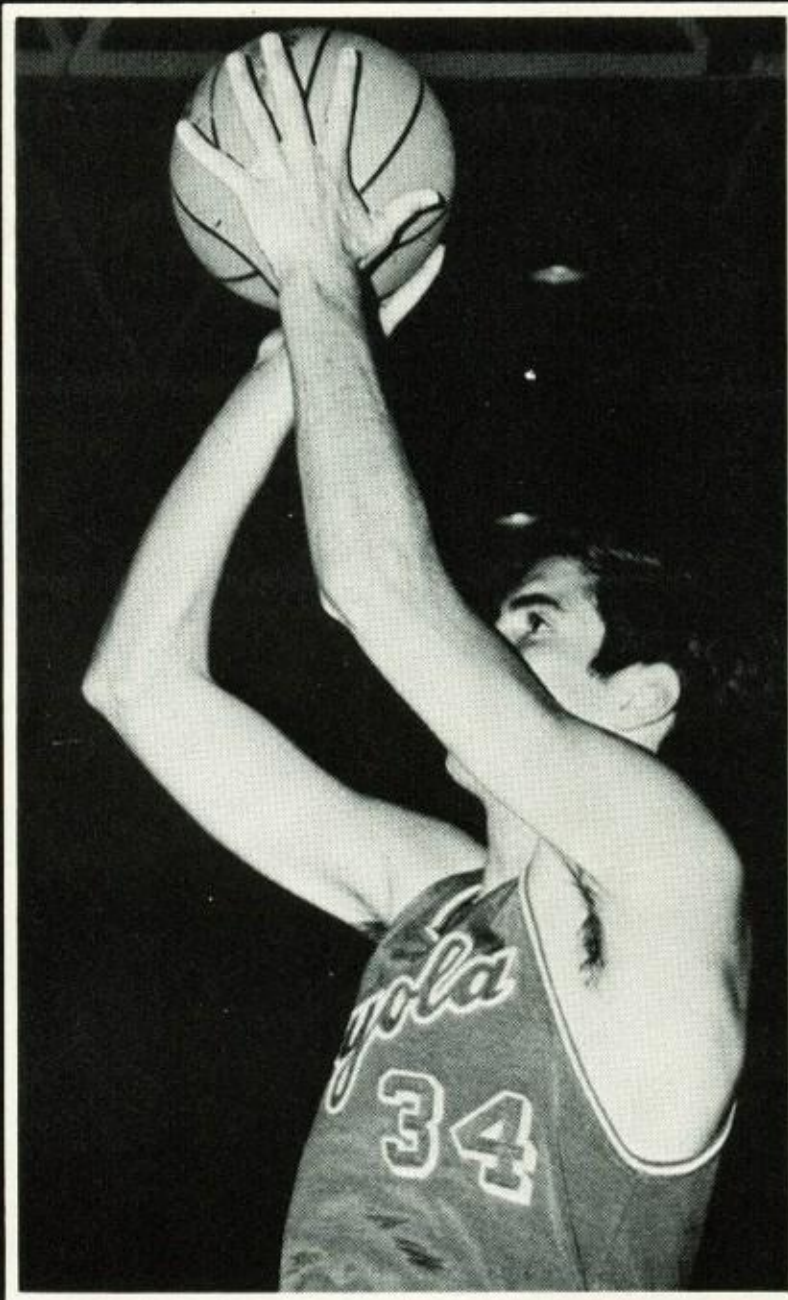

Loyola's Basketball team came onto the court this year with high hopes and some fine talent. Coached by former All American, "Bill" Sanchez, the Cubs had hustle and desire factors necessary for a winning season.

The preseason opened at St. Bernards. The Vikings proved to be no match as the Cubs rolled to an 80-66 victory. Tom O'Meara was high point man with 38 total. Next on the agenda was a trip to the South Bay area and the Pacific Shores Tournament. By losing two crucial games to West Torrance, 58-63, and Torrance, 67-76, the Cubs lost all hope of a top seat. Undaunted by these losses Loyola went to the Burbank-Hoover Tournament, where they beat Cresenta Valley, 63-55, St. Francis, 64-39, and Simi, 58-55, while only losing to Pioneer, 53-58. The Cubs took the consolation prize of the tourney.

Throughout the remainder of the preseason the Loyola team bombarded their opponents; Murphy, 54-52, Serra, 81-61, Pater Noster, 90-55, San Marcos, 63-50, and Pius, 79-54, though losing to Bishop Montgomery, 77-78. The big three Brain Scherbart, Tom O'Meara, and Tom Heiserman kept the team in pace offensively. Dave Ramirez and Doug Good constantly put in great defensive games. Loyola was now ready to meet the Del Rey League.

Notre Dame 65-Loyola 50;

Loyola launched the 1968-69 League season against the ninth ranked team in the CIF, Notre Dame. The Cubs were forced to play the Knights' game because of a devastating full court press. At the half the Cubs were down 35-18. The Cubs put on a late third period rally but could only cut the Knights' lead to 15.

Loyola 82-Cathedral 51;

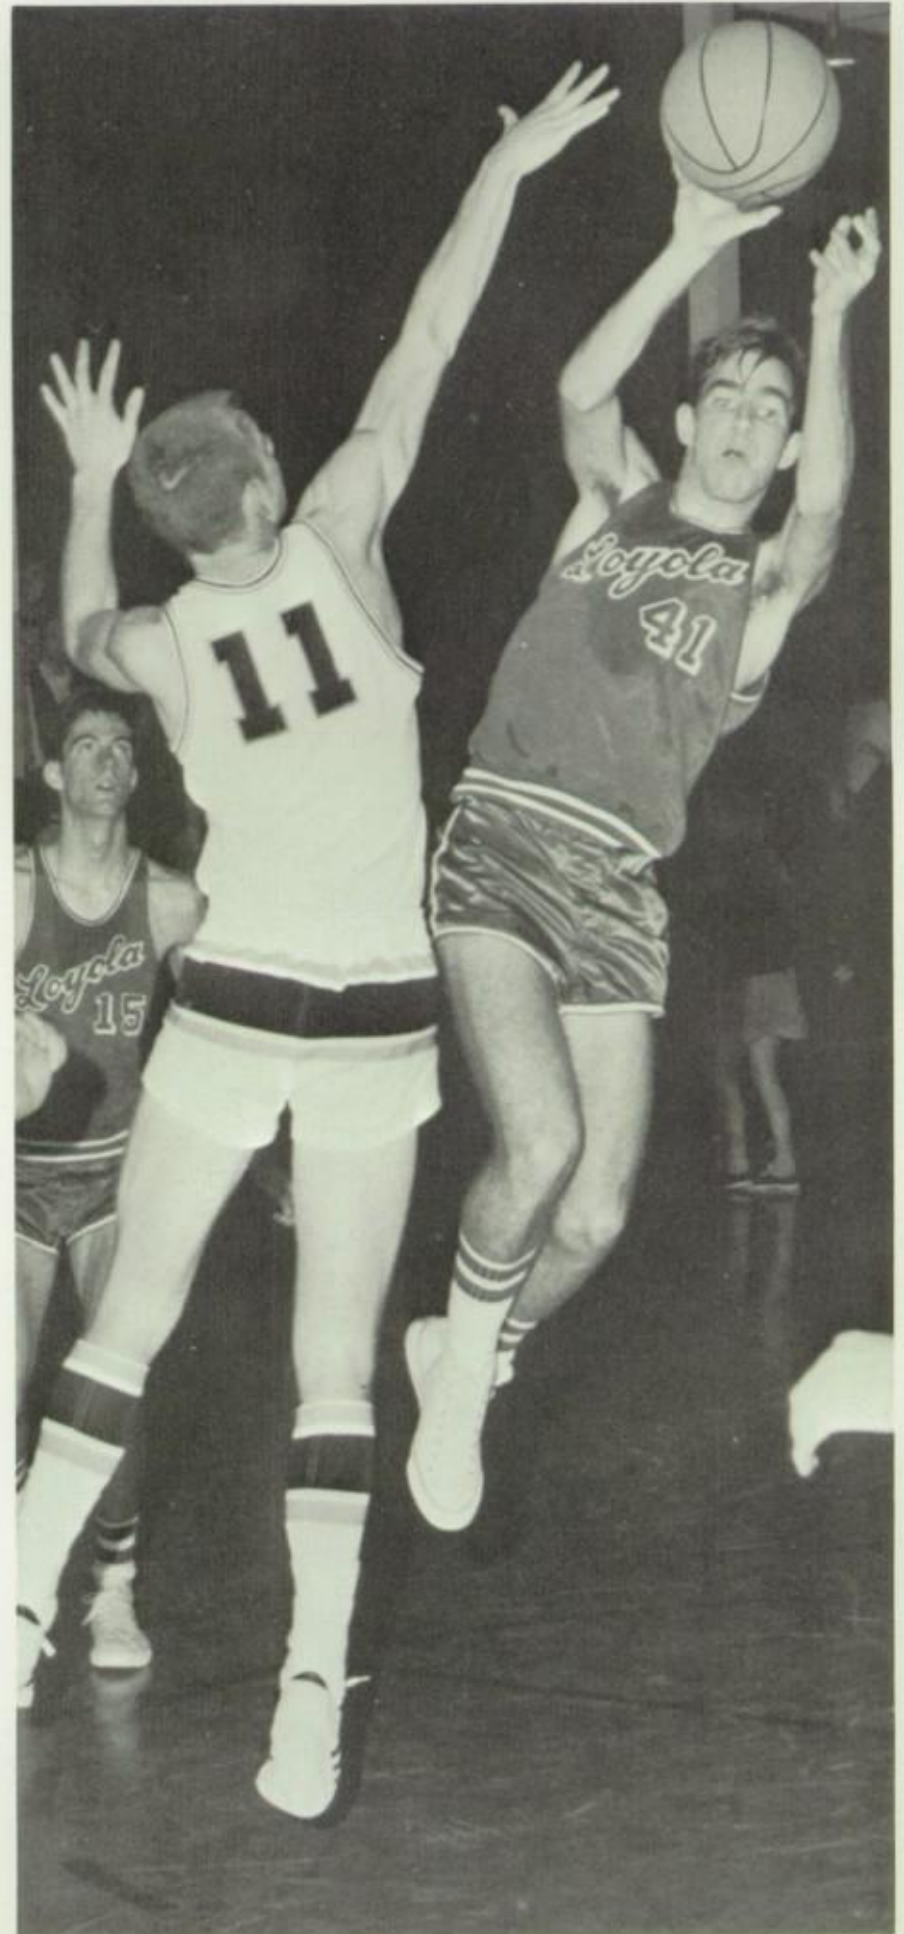

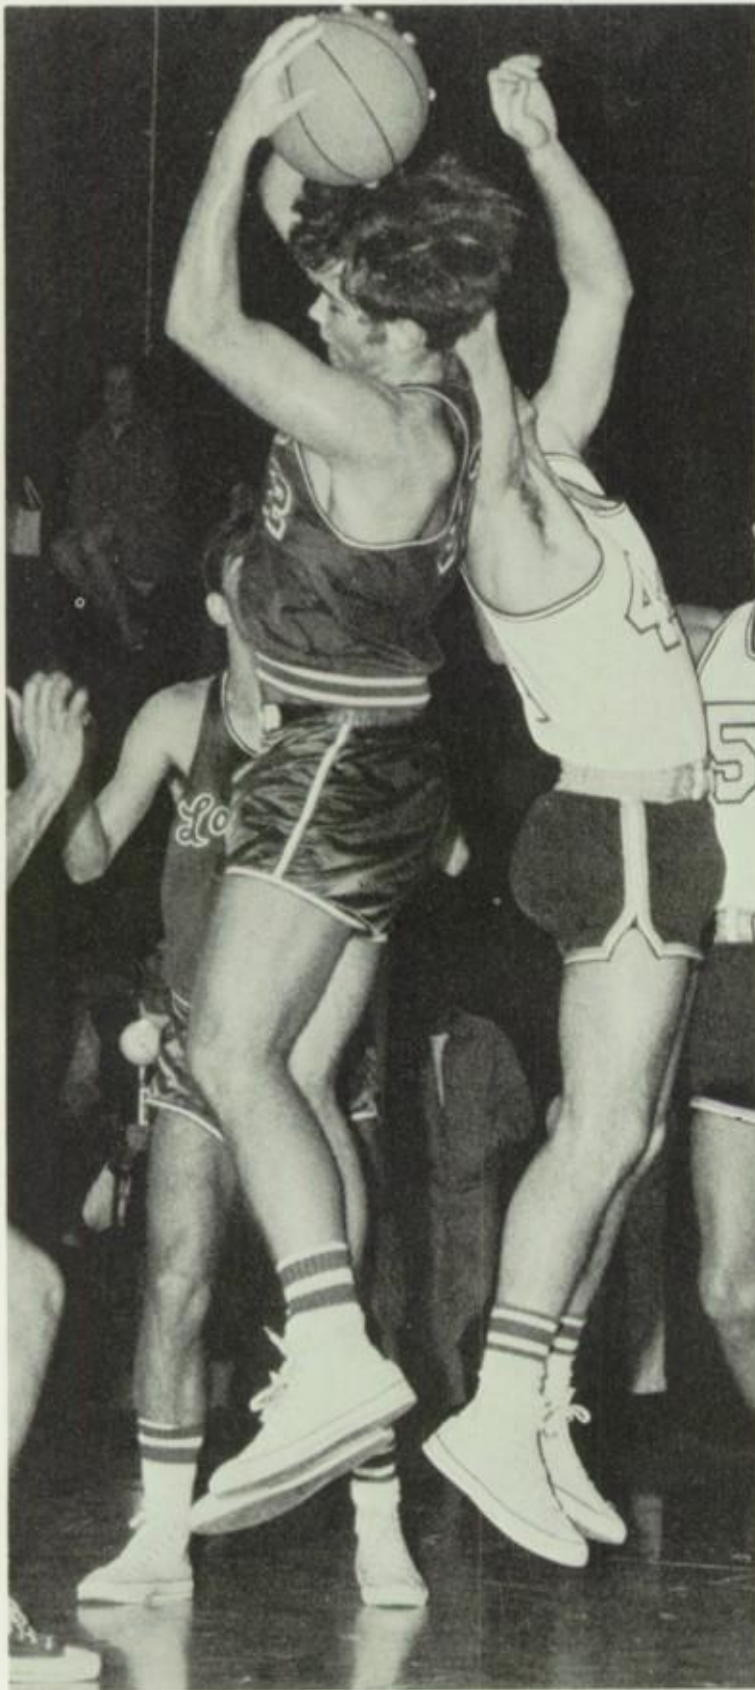

The Cubs came out strong and took an early 14-3 lead. By the end of the game Scherbart had 24 pts., O'Meara and Heiserman each had 18. The game in the bag, the senior subs, Don Ferren, Gene Frake, Jim Sweeters, and Chris Randolph finished up the fourth quarter.

Loyola 67-Salesian 48;

Salesian was expected to be an easy win, but the first half was a tough battle. 33-29 was the half time score. Inspired by the halftime talk of Coach Sanchez and the hot shooting hands of Scherbart and O'Meara, the Cubs finally pulled away.

Loyola 67-Alemany 37;

Alemany came to Loyola looking for possession of second place, but the Cubs had something else in mind. The ball handling of Ramirez, the shooting of Captain Scherbart, and the rebounding of O'Meara gave the Cubs a resounding lead.

Loyola 70-St. Francis 54;

St. Francis, coming off a 101-55 loss to Notre Dame, were looking for revenge. The Golden Knights jumped off to an early lead. But Loyola came on strong in the second quarter. The Cubs led by 10 at the half. Scherbart was the high point man of the game with 24, followed by O'Meara with 21.

Notre Dame 62-Loyola 49;

The Cubs had to win this game to move into first place. The half time score was close, 30-24, in favor of the Knights. The Cubs opened the second half with some good shooting and were leading at the end of the third quarter. But Notre Dame came on strong building up a 12 point lead with 2 minutes to play. Heiserman was the outstanding player with 25 pts.

Loyola 72-Cathedral 46;

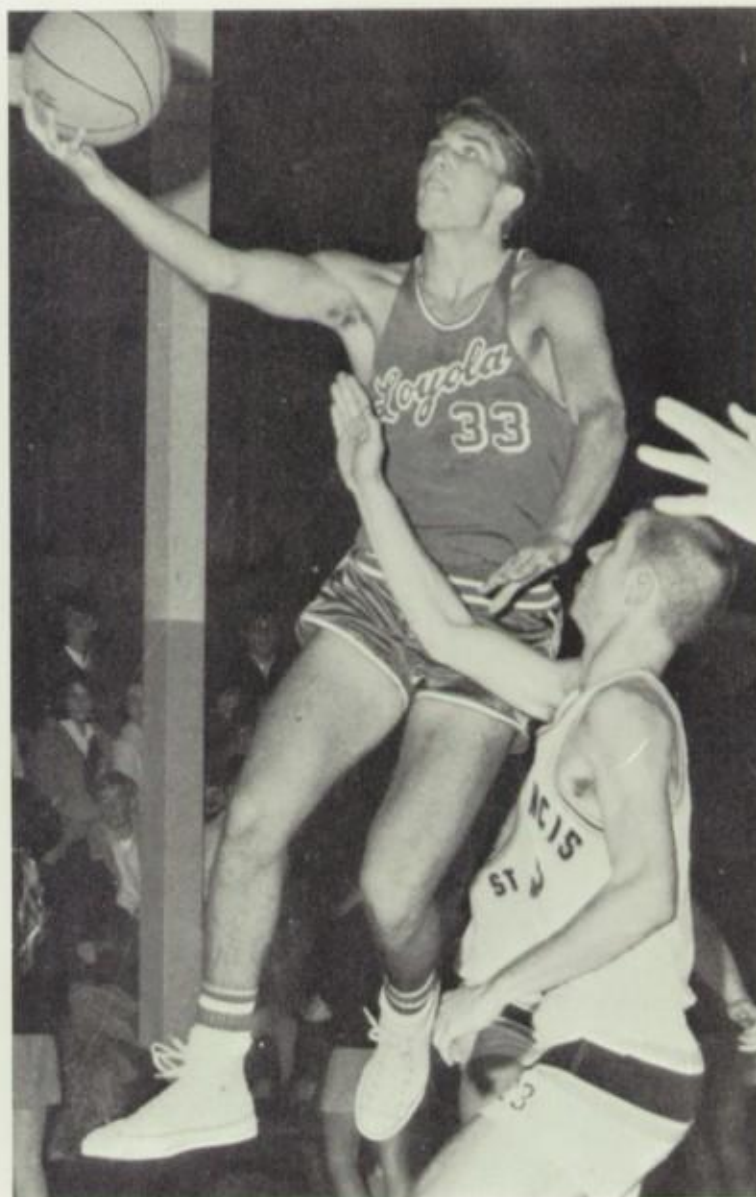

The Phantoms had lost six in a row. With Scherbart pouring in 20 points by the half, and all the Cubs hitting from the floor; the game was a run-away.

Loyola 83-Salesian 60;

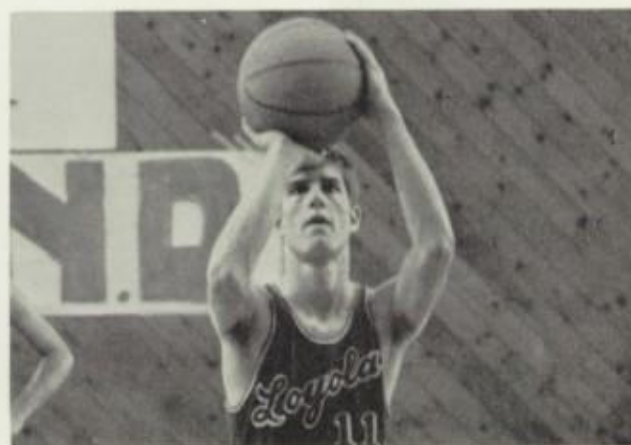

Salesian was looking to make up for its earlier beating by the Cubs. But Scherbart and O'Meara again proved too much for the Mustangs. The Cubs continued to show a style which would take them into the playoff.

Mark Madding sets for a charity shot.

Three of our players were selected to the All League team this year. Tom Heiserman received an honorable mention, Brian Scherbart was MVP runner-up, and Tom O'Mara was elected All League Most Valuable Player.

Loyola 89-Alemany 47;

The Cubs had to stop playoff minded Alemany in this one. The Indians got in foul trouble early and were forced into a zone defense. Their plan to stop Scherbart and O'Meara folded when they had to move into this type of game. Loyola took an early lead and never relinquished it.

Loyola 72-St. Francis 47;

The Golden Knights were out of the running for the playoffs but still had their pride to salvage. They played a slow game and stayed close for the first three quarters. But the Cubs blew the game open in the final period, winning by 25 points.

CIF Playoffs, "AAAA"

North Torrance 79-Loyola 66;

The Saxons of North Torrance, rated fourth at the end of regular season play, hoped to get an easy win from Loyola. The Cubs fought for everything they could get, and the Saxons couldn't take a definite lead until late in the game. The Saxon guards intimidated the Loyola team. O'Meara had a good night, but Scherbart finally had a cold hand. Much to the disappointment of the fans and the team, the Saxons emerged victorious. Loyola finished the season with a 19-7 record it could be proud of.

B Basketball; The preseason and League activities proved discouraging to the B Cagers and Coach Leonardini, S. J. It was a losing season for the inexperienced Cubs and their new coach. Defeat is a distasteful word to use but it gives purpose and drive for the years to come. The B's and The C's are both determined to make up for this year's losses.

C Basketball; The C squad faced the same situation as did the more competent B team. Under the direction of Mr. Sinski, S. J. they fared slightly better. They fought hard throughout every game and many times lost by only a few points. It is hoped that the freshmen will gel and provide winning teams for Loyola's future.

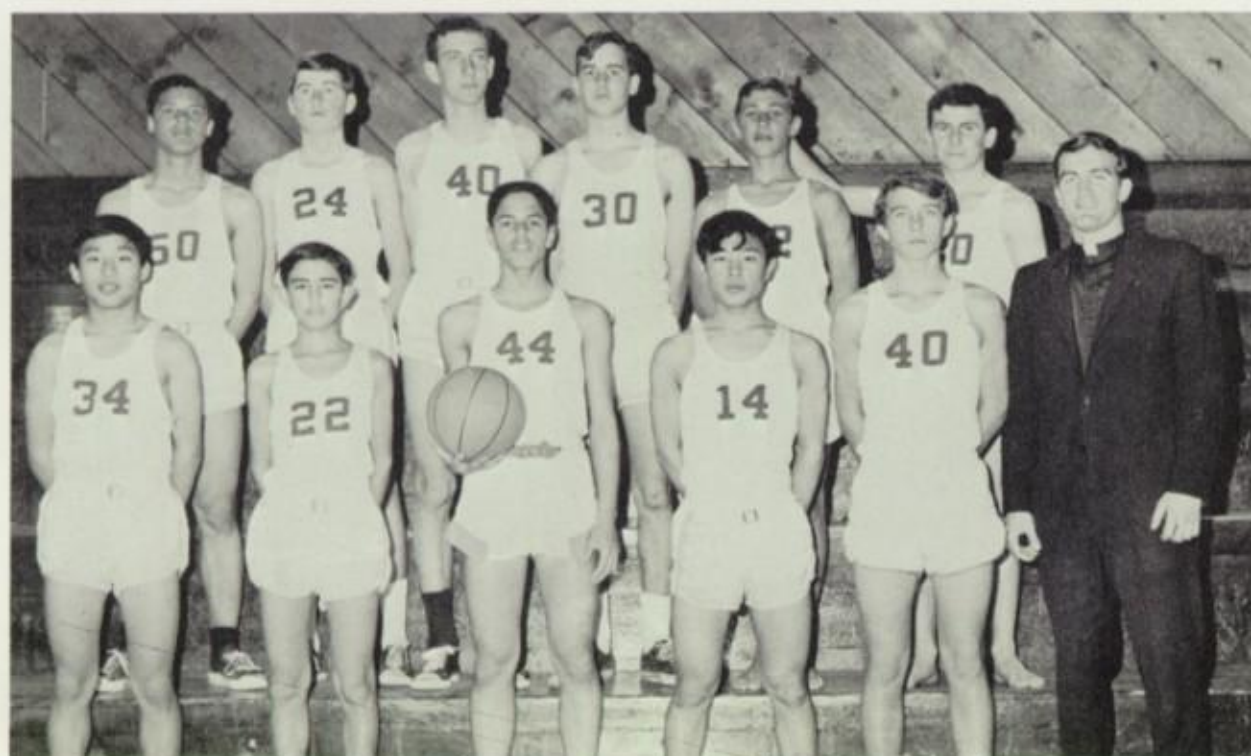

JV's

The JV team came out just on the winning side of the preseason games, but they went on to defeat all the teams in the Del Rey League except for the especially strong Notre Dame squad. Tom Rodgers was high scorer for most of the games. Other standouts were Jon Scherbart and Bill Brown. Special credit is due to first year coach Tomas Moore.

Soccer, the international sport enjoyed by millions of people throughout the world, was thoroughly enjoyed by several dozen of Loyola's Cubs this year. Under the able coaching of Mr. Frank Page, U. S. M. C. retired, the Varsity squad came withing two games of winning the Freeway League championship. The team was led by captain Pat Pereira, who organized the team last year. Its strength lay in the quick offense comprised of the league's leading scorer and 'All-C. I. F. ' prospect, Mario Gonzales; Joe Lozano, Greg Schoenbaum, Ted Toghia, and Ralph Ongkeko. The stout defense was made up of seniors Rudy Fleck, Peter Knotz, Ed Roussell, and Paul Yao. They were backed up by a junior: Tony Kwan and sophomores: Marcelo Pereira and Leslie Thornhill. The goalies were Kiki Soto and John Sullivan. The over all record was 7-5-2 as compared to last year's 2-7-2.

Soccer

The J. V.'s, coached by Mr. Robert Carlos S. J. and led by Raul Garza, gained tremendous experience for the years to come. The team had great potential, but due to their inexperience their final record was a disappointing 2-8.

Swimming

Last year's '68 swim team was reputed to be the best in Loyola's history; but the swimmers of '69 far surpassed the accomplishments of their predecessors. Led by seniors captain Bob Hayes, Tom Stewart, and Dave Oyster, and sophomore Jim Jeffs, the Cubs compiled an impressive record in their first year in a very strong league. Having been beaten by only Notre Dame and Servite, the swimmers proved that their vastly improved reputation among the swimming circles of Southern California was no mistake. The credit for this revival must go to Ray Gubser, who took over the helm as coach 3 years ago. Under his direction the Cubs have showed vast improvement year by year. The swimmers' cause was aided this year by two very fine divers, Jim Oertel and Kevin Worden.

The B's enjoyed a fairly successful season with Tim Musseleman and John Scherbart leading the way. The C's showed great promise as they held their own with some of the stronger teams in the area.

In 1969 Loyola had one of the strongest teams ever. Coach DiMuro had led an experienced group with good depth. When it came to giving up earned runs, Loyola's pitching staff headed by Chirs Raftery, Rod Volk, and Marc Morales, proved to be one of the stingiest in the business. Defensively there were few weak spots on the team. Senior Joe Dottore and Junior Jim Kvasnicka were both fielding standouts. But the real threat of the Cubs was their offensive power. Frank Page, Don Mysorski, Tim Cronin, and Tony Clougherty all had the power to hit the long ball. Basestealing speed was provided by catcher Tony Pradia and outfielder Joe Collins. First Baseman Dean Dougherty, Catcher Bill Agopian, and Outfielders Kevin Green and Tim Wheeler rounded out an excellent baseball team.

Coach DiMuro

Tennis

In 1969, the Tennis team greeted a new coach, Mr. Leon Hooper S. J. The varsity team was headed by Pat Steele, Pete Litchman, Doug LaLonde, and Matt Ellis. Eric Jussen and junior Toney Beliz were first doubles while senior Pat Easton and sophomores Thad Howard and Tommy Steele held down fifth singles and second doubles respectively.

The netmen, shooting for their 24th consecutive Catholic League championship, began the season with impressive non-league wins.

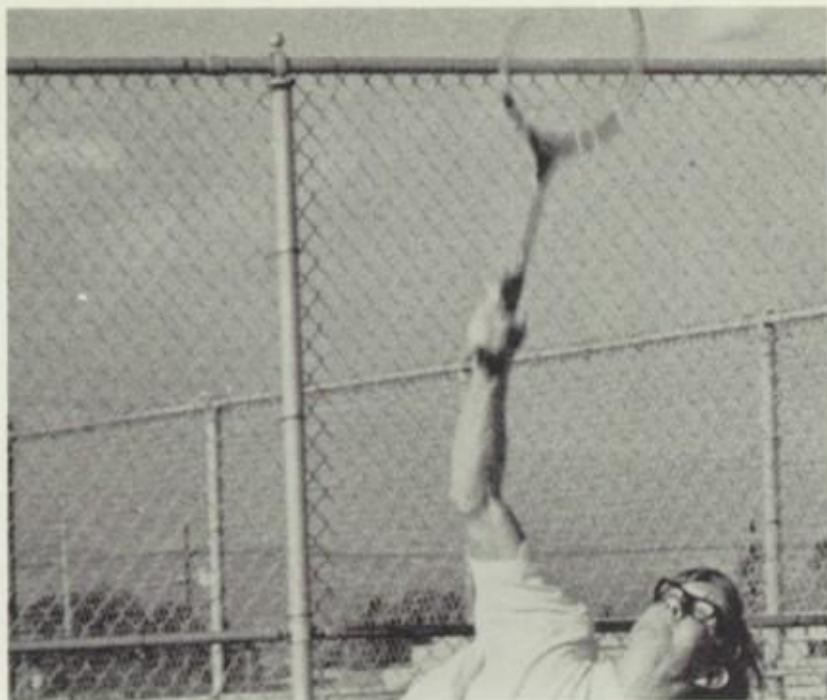

With eight varsity starters returning and with a strong J. V. team coming up, Loyola can look forward to continued success on the part of its tennis team.

Golf

The Golf Team once again completed a championship year. Under Coach Fr. Griffin, S. J., the long-hitting Loyolans enjoyed a most successful season, racking up victories against Alemany, Crespi, Notre Dame, St. Francis, Lasuen, Gardena, Salesian, and St. Monica's.

Mike Piraino captained the team by holding the envied number one position throughout the league, but it was a team effort which guaranteed success. Joe Furnish, Steve Valle, Pat Kelly, Mark Anderson, Scott Simms, and Jim Cromie were top contenders in league medal play, while Tom Jackson and "Chipping Charlie" Horan rounded out the team.

Track

This year's track team lacked the depth and balance in many areas. But many runners did respond to the enthusiasm of Coaches Igloi and Valenti, and turned in outstanding performances that helped to make the season exciting.

The middle distance runners drew strength from their tight-knit group. Bob Horgon and Roger Murry put together a string of victories early in the season and came on to challenge the league leaders. Mark Rafferty worked off a lingering injury to dominate the mile, going under 4:20. The quarter mile was handled by Chris Randolph and Bill Hutchison, who both gave added punch to the mile relay team. Joe Muto, Ted McDonald, George Queen and Ray Christian composed the sprinting team. They developed late in the season, but made an important contribution to the success of the team. Joe Kaniewski looked good in the pole vault, clearing 12'. Mr. Ed Daneri's shot putters were led by Bob Gratton, who putted 49 feet. Paul Rockwell, Tom Joy, and Leonard Valenzuela gave the team added strength in Middle distance.

C's

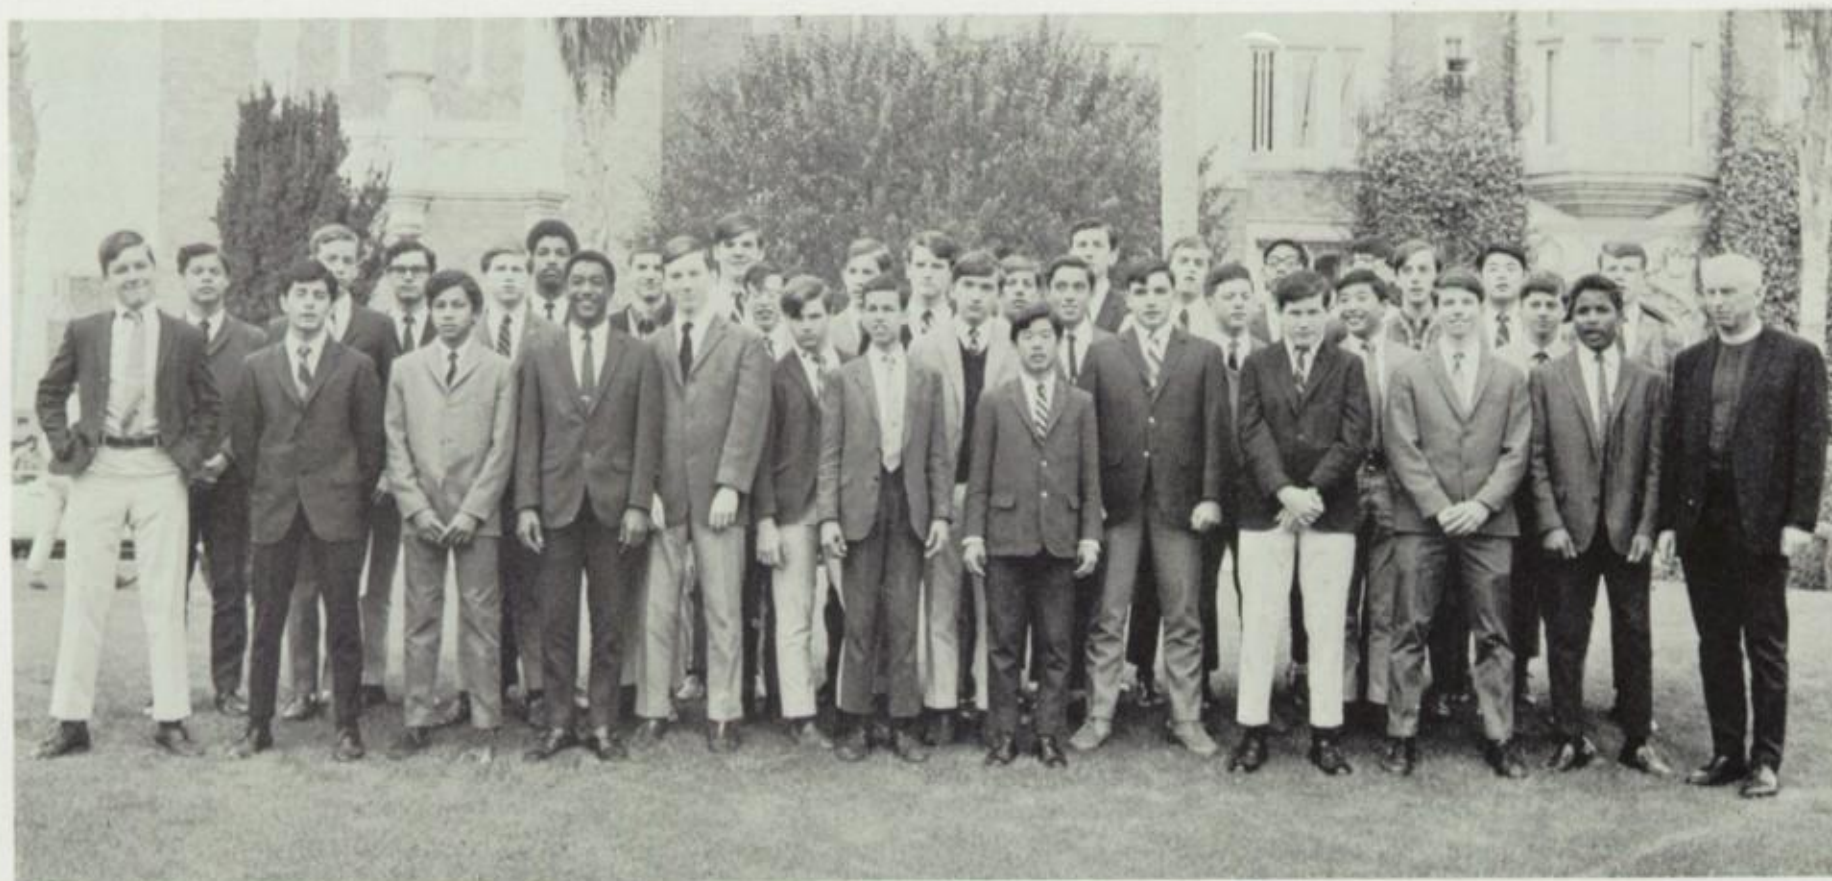

The C's this year, though losing early in the season, showed strengths in many areas. The 440 relay team with Sumption Kramer, MacDonald, and Curtis has done well in every meet. Takaki in the hurdles, McGowan in middle distance, Castro and Milligan in the shot put are some of the other C standouts. Overall the mighty Frosh showed good potential for the coming years.

B's

The B track team put on an exciting display of fresh young talent this year. Some early losses didn't hamper the B's from a respectable showing in league competition. In the sprint events, Hoffman, Sturdy, Cooper, Multari, and Pielow all battled it out for top spot. In the longer distances Hawkins, Jackson, and Barrada proved fine prospects for next year's varsity team. The hurdles were mastered by Castro and Kawahara. Tucker took the pole vault and Bailey the high jump. The B's showed significant strength in many events and now look forward to working on the Varsity.

Intramurals

During the lunch hour every day, the sports-loving Loyolans pour out onto the fields and courts to clash in intramural competition. Headed by Senior Commissioner Jim Hawkeotte, intramural football, basketball, baseball, and volleyball provide students who do not participate on a school team with an outlet for their athletic talent.

Activities

Even in the post-depression era, Loyola possessed a wide range of activities, from forensics to the school band you see here. The progress of time has brought an even greater scope of extra-curricular activities than one could have imagined in the earlier history of Loyola. The activities are here; the student has only to choose and to become more a part of his school.

This year's Student Council did not merely discuss issues, but acted upon them and got things done.

The Council was advised by the Student-Faculty Committee, which established better understanding between the faculty and the student body.

The first thing the Council did was to establish a Student Court, designed to consider student grievances and complaints. Throughout the year, it also purchased a new Cub mascot outfit, re-evaluated Council memberships for campus clubs, bought buttons and cards to boost spirit, and joined government operations in order to learn more about high school government organization.

The Council presented a number of new proposals concerning the student body. One of the most important was the plan for new dress codes.

The 1969 Student Council was successful in maintaining superior student leadership and effective representation. A special thanks should go to the five student body officers; Steve Colombatto, President; O'Malley Miller, VP; Steve Matichione, Secretary; Pat DeSantis, Treasurer; and Jim Hawekotte, Intramural Commissioner; for the fine job they did this year to make student government an active thing.

The Loyola High Pep Club probably deals with more diverse jobs than any other activity on campus. It paints signs, produces skits, sells spirit buttons, handles card stunts at the games, sells programs, puts out the Extra Point publication after each game, and conducts rallies.

The members of the Pep Club worked hard this year for Loyola and deserve recognition for a job well done. Mr. Norbert Sinski, S. J., also deserves our sincere gratitude for the work he put into the Pep Club for the benefit of Loyola High School.

Rallies

Sports rallies were bigger and better than ever this year. Before the football and major basketball games, the students traditionally assemble in the gym to support their team with lung-bursting cheers, confidence in victory, and corny but humorous skits. Rally Coordinator O'Malley Miller and Skit Director Nick Sanelli and their staffs joined to produce rip-roaring rallies that showed school spirit and helped inspire the teams to winning seasons in the 1968-1969 year.

The LOYALIST

The Loyalist reached a new height of excellence this year under the leadership of Frank DeLuca, the Editor-in-Chief; Gregg Hersholt, the award-winning Managing Editor; and Mr. James Flynn, S. J., the Advisor. From Greg Breen's News Staff to Pat Jacobs' Sports Staff to John Taylor's Feature Staff, the Loyalist churned out high-grade reporting on activities, sports, and interesting happenings on campus. The copy, circulation, and art staffs worked capably behind the scenes to produce the paper.

Dances

Loyola's Dance Committee, under the direction of Student Body Treasurer Pat DeSantis, fulfilled its promise of "more and better" social events for the inhabitants of Cubville this year.

Striving to surpass our traditionally excellent dances, Pat and his committee organized better entertainment than Loyola had ever before seen. Groups like the Evergreen Blues Band and the Drifters merited the howling approval of all who witnessed them. In addition to the soulful dances and mixers, a new innovation, the Spring Concert, made its debut on Loyola's social agenda.

Membership in the Monogram Club is a mark of distinction at Loyola High. Athletes who have won varsity letters in their particular sports form this group, which ushers at all school functions and assists the faculty whenever possible. The Monogram Club, with Tony Clougherty as President, is a club of high standards, whose members set an example for all the students to follow.

Literary Review

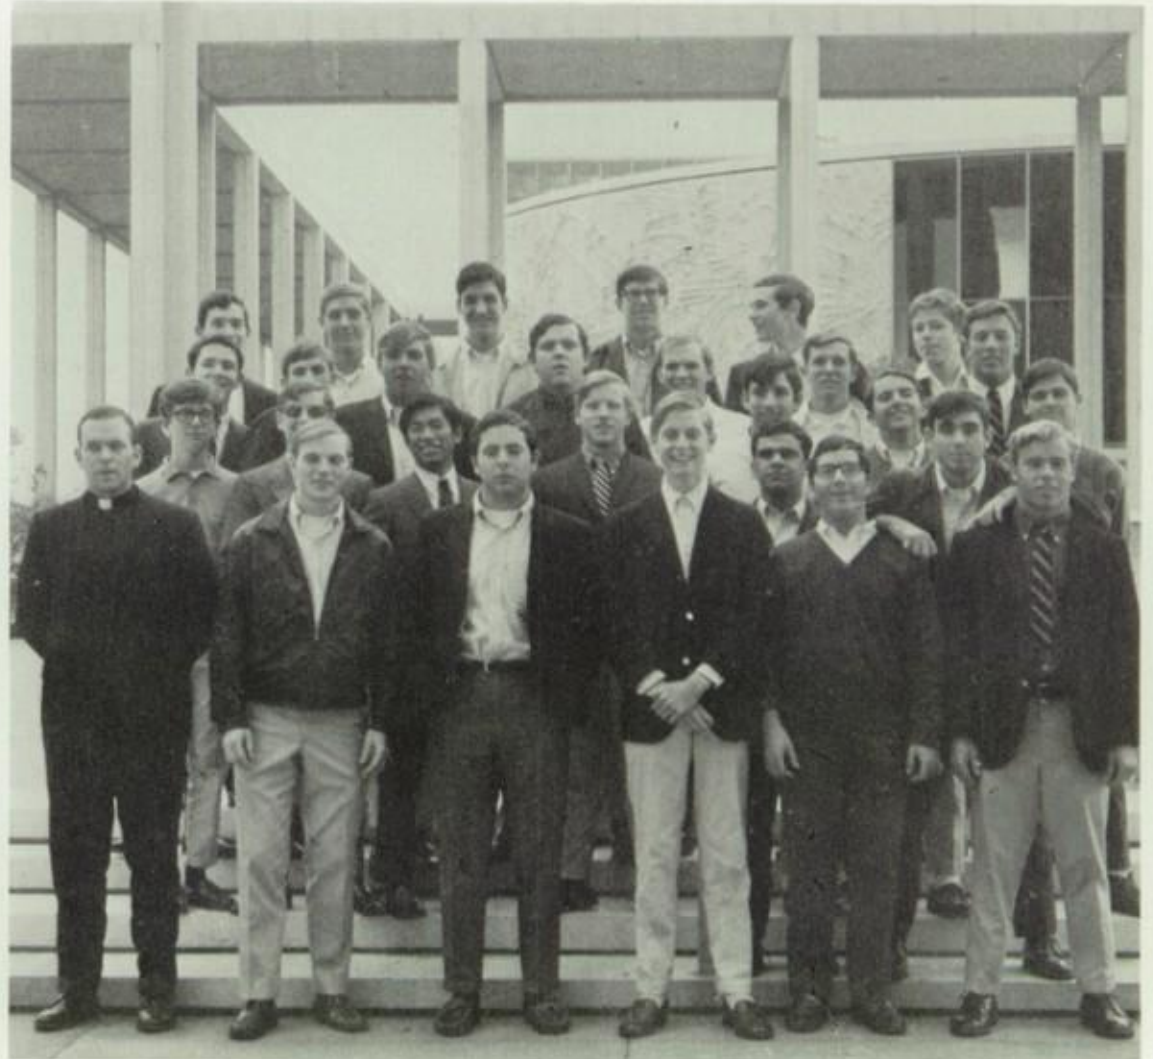

To communicate is to live. When a student looks at his surrounding world, what does he see? More importantly, how does he discern what he sees and communicate his insights to others? By looking through Windowpanes, this year's literary magazine, we hope to glimpse some answers to these questions.

Drama

Loyola's first fully organized Drama Club was very successful this year. Numbering about thirty-five members, the club has put on the fall semester's comedy, "You Can't Take It With You" by Hart and Kaufman, and the spring musical-comedy, "Bye Bye Birdie."

Our thanks go to Mr. Edward Daneri, S. J., and Mr. Edward Reese, S. J., for the assistance they gave in producing these highly successful dramatic endeavors. A special thanks goes to Mr. Paul Kaufman of Loyola University who took the time to direct both efforts.

Student representatives this year were: Ralph Christiana, president; Steve Radigan, vice-president; Jon Fuller, secretary-publicist; and Ernie DelPonte, treasurer.

You Can't Take It With You Bye Bye Birdie

Above: Andy Vracin and the Axe Lady; Below: Vince Cesar, both in rehearsal for "You Can't Take It With You."

Take a crazy, mixed-up family, complete with explosives in the cellar; introduce them to an elite high society couple of prim and proper upbringing; suggest inter-family marriage, and what do you get? The answer is the wacky Kauffman and Hart comedy, "You Can't Take It With You", Loyola's first semester production. Take Sharon Blick, Margo Webster, Pat Ortner, Jose Plana, Ralph Christiana, John Loomis, Nick Sanelli, Vince Cesare, and many more; put them together in this wild cast, and what do you get? The answer is a most enjoyable night for all who experienced the play.

So much preparation went into Loyola's spring performance, "Bye Bye Birdie", that nothing short of excellence could have emerged. The musical-comedy about a rock singer who is drafted, his manager's last promotional stunt, and how it affects the lives of so many people provided an amusing and quite entertaining program. The actors again were outstanding, with Rick Garner, Margo Webster, Ann-Marie Gough, Peggy Hummes, Nick Sanelli, Tim Wheeler, and Steve Colombatto playing the lead parts. A special mention should go to the band: Maggie O'Reilly, Robert Torres, Billy Hinsche, Tim Grady, and Burleigh Girasole Drummond, for the perfect musical touch they lent the program.

The oratorically inclined men of Loyola have the opportunity to interpret and expound on various subjects ranging from humor to drama simply by joining Loyola's strongly competitive Speech and Debate Team. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Fabing, S. J., moderator; and Paul Chitwood, president, the Speech Team has enjoyed one of the most successful years of competition in Loyola High's history, and has continued to bring recognition and respect home to the school with every contest.

Boarders

OFFICERS: Ted Barry, Intramural Commissioner; Nick Mosich, Secretary-Treasurer; John Eagle, vice-President; Brian Scherbart, President.

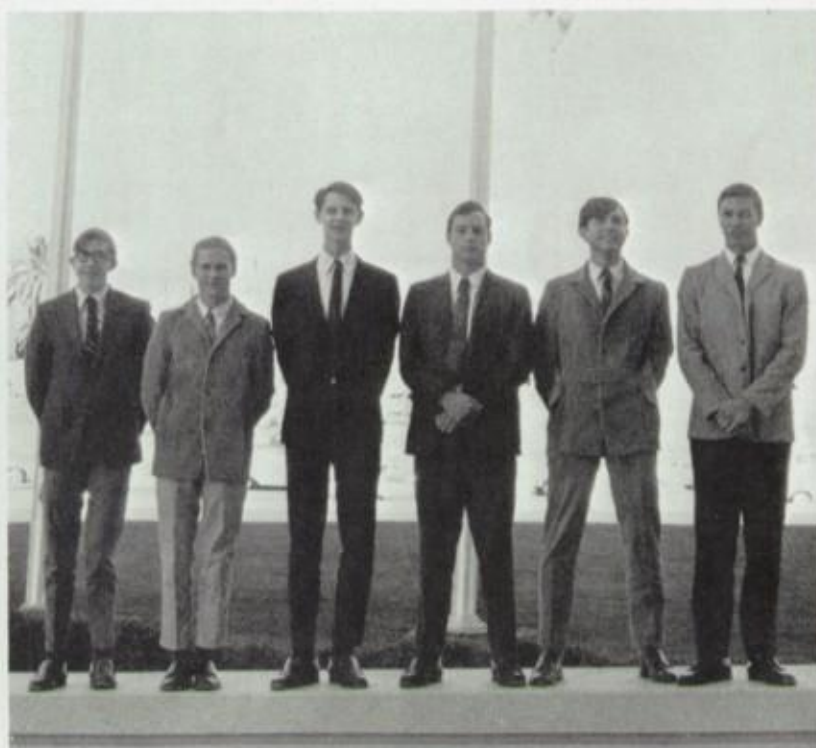

Seven members of the Orr family have attended Loyola, and each has stayed in the Boarders Quarters. They are, Left to Right, Neil ('52), Terry ('54), Larry ('58), Tim ('59), Pat ('60), Mike ('61), and Dan ('69).

Behind Loyola High is an ominous tan brick building, which every year is used as the ultimate in torture for forty-eight Loyola "gentlemen". It is a select group: do you need a good defensive end in a hurry? — Can do. How about a high-kicking karate man? — He's there too. An electronics club member? — Sure. A star basketball forward? — Don't look any further. Even a 4.0 grade student? — He's there. The old BQ has them all. It has five fun-loving prefects with a great combined sense of humor. One can even contribute his services to Mayor Yorty in Mr. Comiskey's hilarious "Civic Action Program." Whatever the situation, the BQ boys can handle it; and, oh yes, they do their studying on the side.

Tom Stewart does his part by painting for the Revitalization Corp. in Watts on Saturdays.

Christianity is not mere dogma. It is dogma lived, and lived with an ever-deepening awareness that Christ's mystical body is real—that people count.

The Christian Action Movement (CAM) is an attempt to provide opportunities for all Loyola students to meet people and to share with their concern, their involvement, their love.

The CAM co-ordinators, under Bill Sterling, have organized these opportunities. At St. Thomas Grammar School, Mike McCormick was in charge of tutoring and Kenny Smith supervised playground activity. Burleigh Drummond headed the Big Brother program. Bill Weir led the Task Force to the Watts Revitalization Corps each Saturday morning. Tim Grady recruited groups to visit the sick and the old. Bill Sterling masterminded the CAM Congress. Steve Mattachione took charge of the Christmas can drive. Paul Chitwood was chairman of the Liturgical Reform Committee. Other active members were Steve Bull, Frank DeLuca, Tom DuRoss, and Mike Schwehr.

Fr. James Rude, Mr. Robert Fabing, and Mr. Joseph Mitchell served as moderators.

The rewards of CAM; a smile.

Bowling

Loyola's intra-competitive bowling squads enjoyed all the excitement of close dramatic finishes in both first and second semester leagues. Moderator Fr. Prussing, S. J. had a very successful year, with his team, "The Young Rascals", placing first in the first semester league.

Spanish

Loyola's first Spanish Club, under the leadership of founder dictator Mike McCormick, vice-dictator John McGonigle (shown at left), and moderator Mr. William Sanchez, led all other Clubs in imaginative plans for trips to Tijuana and parties with girls' schools.

Loyola's two-thousand watt power-tower continued this year to tickle the ionosphere—and the ears of ham operators around the world. Our own hams blew seventeen fuses and downed a record one hundred and fifty cases of soda pop in bringing the list of countries they have contacted to two hundred, a goal long sought.

The French Club is an organization designed for the development of the French language and culture in each of its fifty members. Working in conjunction with Immaculate Heart, Ramona, and Marymount High Schools, the club sponsored a number of major events this year, including a ski trip, a Christmas caroling excursion, movies, and parties.

The Junior Classical League is composed of students of Latin, a Classical language. Under moderator Fr. James Rude, S. J. and Representative Ernie Cisneros, interschool activities with Immaculate Heart High School's JCL were conducted in order to further the interest of classical studies and their values.

In its second year of existence at Loyola High, the Paleontological Society organized a number of expeditions to rich fossil-bearing localities. Specimens of great significance were collected by some of the seventy members of the Society, a few dating back as far as one hundred and thirty five million years. John Holmquist is the president, and Bro. McDermott, S. J. moderates.

The great art of self-defense is quite practical to learn in today's sometimes cruel world. Thanks to Mr. Buschelman, who is experienced in Karate, a selective group of seniors have the chance to practice this most sophisticated defensive art in the Karate Club.

In its first year at Loyola, the Electronics Club has been designed to promote knowledge and encourage creative work in the field of electronics. To accomplish its ends, lectures, demonstrations, movies, field trips, and original individual projects were organized with success.

Organized this year by club president Rich Lord and moderator W. Schenk, the Adventurer's Club was intended as an elite group of students whose purpose was to do unusual and exotic activities not offered either within the school or without. Due largely to its illustrious selection of officers, the club was an overwhelming success. Its range of activities included scuba diving, ski trips, excursion trips down the Baja Peninsula, all of which indeed turned out "unusual and exotic."

The Loyola High Library Club functions as the group who, during lunch-time and the early morning hours before school, maintain the educational reference materials of the school library.

This year, the Library Club made several field trips to a publishing company, a bindery, city libraries, and the libraries of other schools to meet and discuss ideas with other library clubs. Besides going on these various excursions, the Library Club also held discussions concerning the school library and its facilities, and how they could be modified to more effectively meet the growing demands of the student body.

The Audio-Visual Club has been a service to Loyola High School for the past two years. In that time members of the club have operated and repaired all the audio-visual equipment in the school. Its moderator is Father Alfred Playoust, S.J., who had previously been the sole superintendent for the equipment. Finally, due to Loyola High's expansion of its educational facilities and especially its audio-visual aids, Father decided to form a group to assist him in the operation and repair of all the equipment. Thus in 1968 he formed the Audio-Visual Club.

This year Loyola's Chess Club has been a well functioning and efficient organization. Under the guidance of Father Robert Griffin, S.J., (moderator), Keith Robinson (president), James Chan (vice-president), the club has participated in the Los Angeles Chess League.

Undergraduates

A great many of these St. Vibiana's boys pictured below continued their education at St. Vincent's late in the 1800's. St. Vincent's has changed, and is now known as Loyola High. Today Loyola's students have changed also, in dress, in ideas, in mode of life. But the undergraduates of the 1968-1969 school year still seek the education toward leadership that has been characteristic of the men throughout Loyola's history.

Graduates

The men shown here are graduates of St. Vincent's in 1902. They have completed their lives now, and we are only starting. We have passed our first milestone, however, in the completion of our high school education. As so many have gone before us, so we must go. But we cannot forget the influence of Loyola, which shall remain with us always.

El Camino

The El Camino is the result of many long hours of layouts, copy, and production work by this year's staff. In an attempt to create a better yearbook format for the student body, summer planning sessions and much weekend work were put into our El Camino. Editor-in-Chief Tom Reilly did a dazzling job of coordinating the staff and almost meeting the deadlines. Roger Jones handled the layouts, Rich Cromie did an admirable job as Copy Editor, and Mr. DeVerneil, S. J. was our moderator. Behind the scenes, Mike Multari, Gerald Cigliano, Tom Hutchison, John McGonigle, Ted McDonald, Jim Brown, Carl Garcia, Bill and Jon Fuller, and many others contributed greatly in adding depth and detail to our yearbook which, of course, we think is the best ever.
